

Local servicemen, prisoners and injured laud Red Cross

MORRIS FESSLER—PRISONER

Morris Fessler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Fessler of Los Altos, California, formerly of Arlington Heights who for many years conducted the Fessler Dairy here, has been for many months a prisoner of war, and is stationed in a concentration camp at Dulaglust, Germany.

Morris enlisted with the Royal Canadian Air Force in October of '41 and saw several months bombing service over enemy territory before he was shot down in occupied France. It was some months before the family had any news of Morris's whereabouts, and their first notice of his safety came thru a telegram from the International Red Cross. Since that time they have corresponded with him and have sent supplies to him through the facilities of the International Red Cross.

Morris graduated from the local high school and took his flying training on the west coast.

The articles that Morris asks for most frequently are canned meat, vitamin tablets, woolen clothing and cigarettes. In a letter received last week, he asked for a sleeping bag, indicating that he is not adequately housed for comfort at night.

The Fesslers praise the work of the Red Cross most highly in having located and maintained contact with their son.

RAY PETERS—PRISONER

Another Arlington Heights boy to be located through the services of the Red Cross is Ray Charles Peters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Peters of North Dundon ave., chief water tender aboard the U. S. Tanager, which was either lost or captured in the Philippine struggle. The War department notified the family that their son was missing in action, and as months went by, he was given up for lost, but through the service of the International Red Cross, he has been located on the Bataan peninsula as a Japanese prisoner of war. To date the Peters family have not been able to correspond with him. Ray has served in the navy 18 years.

NURSE BREESE—PRISONER

Word has also been received here that Miss Minnie Breeze, a former resident of Arlington, who took her nursing training in Chicago, and was commissioned as a nurse lieutenant, and saw active duty during the struggle for the Philippines, is also a prisoner of war in the Philippines and has been located through the War Department and Red Cross.

This service of the International Red Cross is a great source of comfort to prisoners of war, and to the mothers of such prisoners, who long for word from their boys, is a contact that only the International Red Cross has with the boys in prison camps.

BROTHER WAS WOUNDED

John Dziadulac was the first Palatine man to answer the Red Cross war drive for funds. He handed chairman Roy LaLonde a ten dollar bill, saying, "my brother was wounded in the Solomon Islands. This $10 is not much, but it is the least that I can do."

Mr. LaLonde is expecting several hundred of ten dollar bills from relatives and friends of the other boys who may need the service of the Red Cross today or tomorrow.

With the National Red Cross Drive reaching its peak in March, and every man, woman and child being asked to give something, no matter how small, toward the financial upkeep of this great institution, all facts are of interest.

The public has all been informed of the work that the Red Cross has done in the past and the work that is being carried on now. The Blood Bank and the active field hospital units are in the thick of battle and the personnel of the Red Cross has never failed to dare any risk that might save the life of a soldier or sailor or marine.

The Red Cross has not neglected the army morale and perhaps there could be no more fitting time than now, when you are being asked to help carry on this work, to know, first hand, what men on the front think of this organization.

LT. TUDYMAN—RECOVERING

The following is a letter from a Palatine boy, Lt. Alce Tudyman who is "somewhere in Australia." Alce has been a navigator on a bomber until recently, when an attack of tropical fever had him hospitalized for several weeks. At the present time he is convalescing and is assigned to a desk job until his complete recovery has been assured. Lt. Tudyman writes as follows:

"If the Red Cross comes around asking for a donation, folks, dig down deep and help them out. You folks back home have no idea how much they do for us. Besides taking excellent care of the casualties, and other patients, they have provided us with some sort of a lounge whenever it is possible, and sometimes when it hasn't seemed possible. Biggest treat of all is the ice cold cokes. Boy that's really something down here. It was the first I'd had and I drank several. Take it from me they have money any time. Another group that is in here pitching in the Salvation Army. Don't forget them either."

"Every cent that you can spare will go to take care of our fighting men and for the operation of a group that has dedicated itself to the service of mankind. Take the word of a soldier who knows and 'dig down deep.'"

RED CROSS IS CONTACT SERVICE

Many a mother has received her first knowledge of the whereabouts of her soldier son who has been reported missing in action by the government, through the international Red Cross, who do all in their power to keep a contact between the prisoner and his native country.

Parcels containing food and other necessities are sent to prisoners of war by the American Red Cross as soon as the International Red Cross Commission at Geneva is notified of their location.

Contents of Red Cross packages are fixed by nutrition experts to supplement rations provided by their captors, and to counteract vitamin deficiencies in their prison diet. Parcels for Europe move through the neutral courts of Lisbon, where they are picked up by a Red Cross ship, and taken to

Making a hero out of crime

The juvenile crime situation in Arlington Heights is so bad that the Herald does not know what to say. The editor might have shrugged his shoulders and said, "boys will be boys," the same as probably hundreds of parents of this community did last week.

Tuesday morning, one of the four boys apprehended for stealing $300 from local business sections was found in a wash room of the high school bragging about his accomplishments. He was receiving the hero worship of his audience.

This boy had not been sufficiently impressed with the enormity of his crime. His influence over the other boys will depend upon the upbringing that their parents have given to them.

Last week the editor heard another story — two girls this time — daughters of two prominent families.

Wednesday a court officer spent several hours investigating the home environments of four local boys.

We asked a local mother what Arlington Heights was doing about it. She mentioned Boy Scouts, Cubs, Girl Scouts, Brownies, Walter League, C. Y. O. and the new University of Life Movement, being sponsored by three of the local churches.

These are no doubt doing a wonderful job, but Arlington Heights still has juvenile delinquency on its hands.

We need a tightening up of parental authority, and a more comprehensive plan for youth guidance.

How about the formation of a group of interested parents to study the situation?

Nab youth molesting girls in local towns

Mt. Prospect police arrested Donald Szymanski, 13 year old boy of 443 S. Dundon, Arlington Heights, after a young woman reported he had been molesting her at the ice skating rink in Mt. Prospect, at 4 p. m. Saturday afternoon.

Officer Whittenberg followed the young man when he tried to hide in the onion house on Wille st. He admitted his crime, and said he didn't know what made him do it, he just did it.

Szymanski confessed accosting in a similar manner two women in Arlington Heights February 18. He has been taken to the Juvenile Home where he will be examined by a psychiatrist and then turned over to an institution until he becomes of age.

Police stress the importance of reporting any irregularity immediately instead of calling them the next day, when it is often too late to apprehend the criminal.

Palatine dedicates its servicemen's honor roll

In one of the most impressive ceremonies ever held in Palatine, that community, Saturday afternoon at five o'clock, dedicated its splendid roll of honor with the names of 270 boys from that area who are in the service of their country.

The dedicatory exercises were short but impressive.

The American Legion, Ladies Auxiliary and Woman's Relief Corps, led by the high school band, paraded from the village hall, at Brockway and Slade sts., a big crowd had formed for the exercises, with a truck used as a speaker's platform.

With the American flags and the colors flashing in the bright sunlight as a brisk wind whipped the banners, Roy LaLonde, president of the Palatine Lions club, welcomed the crowd.

The band played the Star Spangled banner and Mr. LaLonde presented D. R. Rippey, commander of the Arlington Heights Post of the American Legion and chairman of the selective service board.

Mr. Rippey spoke highly of the men from this area who have answered the call of their country saying that as he had looked into their faces as they had left home for the defense of their country he had seen that confidence and determination and faith had boded well for the success time during the last week.

Junior Red Cross book drive ends Thursday noon

Arlington Heights Junior Red Cross, comprising members of the 6th, 7th and 8th grades of the north school, will complete its Victory Book campaign this Thursday noon. The executive committee will entertain Friday evening at 7 o'clock the two school rooms which have turned in the greatest number of books. Five rooms are in the contest.

The present campaign is not the first project of this patriotic group. They have provided joke books, menu covers and scrap drive posters as well as purchasing a large number of war stamps.

Mt. Prospect has a war of its own at board meeting

The only war in this world is not across the waters. Property owners of North Wille st., Mt. Prospect are fighting mad. A few of them voiced their desires in no uncertain words at a meeting of Mt. Prospect village board Tuesday evening. Apparently giving up the hope that the subdividers, C. W. Wolf and the Wille st. property would install gutters and street drainage, they are asking the village board to bring pressure to bear upon Wolf.

It was a rather turbulent meeting with James Walsh expostulating the cause of the N. Wille st. residents. Explanation on the part of Mayor Besander that the property owners only recourse was a civil action against the subdividers, did lessen the demands from the floor.

The objectors asked the board to withhold special assessment refund payment to Mr. Wolf, amounting to nearly $1,700 until he had black topped the road or had otherwise satisfied the owners that he had fulfilled his contracts with them.

Glenview man killed when car overturns

Injuries received early Thursday morning when his automobile left state route 72 and overturned several times three miles west of Dundee caused the death Saturday afternoon of Warden L. Herd, 39, of 400 Country Lane ave., Glenview, in Sherman hospital, Elgin.

Herd's death was due to a concussion, broken jaw, and numerous cuts and bruises about the head and face, complicated by the development of pneumonia. He died about 5:30 in the afternoon.

Joins the navy

The navy was glad to oblige when application was made to them for the induction of Leo E. Specht, Arlington Heights youth. Leo is leaving today for navy which will keep him rather busy. He is welcoming the opportunity to serve his country.

The four lads who were associated with Leo in recent events, will appear before the juvenile court Friday.

Prospect Hts. now has own fire truck

New tires, hose and ladders all included

Whirlwind action on the part of the Prospect Heights Business Men's association this week gave Prospect Heights a fire truck, exactly suited to the community's needs. Only three days elapsed from the time an advertisement concerning the engine was considered by the association until the truck was inspected and the money paid to close the deal.

Tuesday Harold Lamb, first presented the ad to the merchants with the suggestion that it might be the answer to a long felt need here. A telephone call was immediately put through to the mayor at Delavan, Ill., the community which had inserted the ad in a Chicago Sunday paper.

From the mayor's information it appeared to the merchants that the fire truck with its chemical equipment was just right for Prospect Heights. But at that time they made no definite commitment.

Then, suddenly they realized that, if the truck was as good as it sounded, immediate action had better be taken or some one else would get there first.

Meeting called

A special meeting of the association was called at once, the proposition discussed, and all the merchants were enthused. Looking into the Association's treasury which had been recently drawn on for two other community projects — the drainage re-planning and the new service plaque — it was discovered that the funds fell short of the required amount for purchase of the truck.

Within five minutes the difference was made up by personal contributions from every member of the Association: Allord's Market, Dr. John Fortier, Dr. Royal Fitch, Koske Cartage Company, Larson's Insurance Agency, L. Nor Cleaner, Prospect Heights Hardware and Appliance Company, Prospect Heights Pharmacy, Lamb's Service Station, Smith and Dawson, and the Swirl Shop.

Gain option

Another call was put through to Delavan, and the mayor promised he would hold the truck, although there were now seven manufacturing firms bidding for it, until Thursday noon. A fire truck committee was appointed with Harold Lamb, chairman, to be assisted by Rex Dalstrom and Anthony Koske.

Thursday morning at 5:30 the merchant's representatives were on their way, arriving in Delavan, which is near Springfield, just a few minutes before the option was up.

The fire truck itself lived up to all expectations. Upon inspection it was found to be in perfect condition and gave a fine performance in a test run supervised by Delavan's fire chief.

Mayor J. B. Cowgill told the merchant's representatives that the community of Delavan was pleased that the truck was to go to a new community. Although Delavan had just purchased a new and larger truck because its fire department has recently expanded to take in an area 36 miles square, they seemed reluctant to part with the engine which has stood them in such good stead and which had never failed to give perfect service.

The deal was consummated. It had been intended to drive the truck home, but the temperature had dropped to 4 above, so it was decided to wait until a good warm day to drive it home.

Truck's a 'dandy'

The committee today described the new truck as a "dandy." It is an American LaFrance, one of the best fire engines made. It is serviced by two 30 gallon chemical tanks in which the fire-fighting fluid is made on the spot by the mixture of water with soda and acid. When one tank is empty the other can be recharged at the scene of the fire.

In Delavan's worst fire at a large farm, it was necessary to use 5 tanks, but, for ordinary fires, 2 are deemed sufficient.

The truck has been kept in beautiful condition, the committee reports, with its paint and brass gleaming. Only a month ago 4 brand new tires were put on the truck which has seen only 1100 miles of service.

The engine is fully equipped with 200 feet of 1½ inch high pressure hose, hook and ladders, both roof and extension type, a siren, an electric hand search light for use in interiors, 2 extra 5 gallon hand extinguishers for small fires. Included also was a carboy of acid, several extra cart-ridges and soda, and an axe.

Mr. Robert House, 306 Maple avenue, has promised the donation of a flashing headlight which will be installed immediately the truck arrives.

May seek volunteers

Considerations for a Prospect Heights volunteer fire department are now under way. The truck can operate with 5 men, but Delavan's fire chief pointed out that 10

Selectees leave amid music and laughter

Frank O. Smith, clerk of Arlington Heights Selective Service board wishes that every contingent that leaves for army service included a musician and comedian. The "going away" party of last Thursday was a gay affair. Alfred Stier, 107 Emmerson st., Mt. Prospect, provided a lot of lively piano music for the breast fast while Kenneth Wells, 24 Belmont ave., Arlington Heights, was the joy maker.

The fun, started at draft headquarters, continued on the train, to Chicago.

The boys were in such gay spirits, they were offering their shoe strings, cigarettes and other property to the 4-Fers (civilian passengers). "We are in the army now and won't need them," said Wells.

Palatine American Legion provided the send-off and Rev. Wilfred Koester, pastor of Palatine Lutheran church, gave the parting address.

Mr. Smith accompanied the contingent to Chicago induction center.

Excess cans less than two to a person

Mrs. Heckmiller, clerk of Arlington Heights ration board, reports that over 14,000 coffee stamps were removed last week, from the ration book No. 1 belonging to children under 14 years of age.

The other figures are:

No. 2 books issued 6,713
Number of declarations 2,103
Excess cans 7,545

The greatest number of cans declared by a single person was 500. The ration office is very busy filling renewal applications for B and C cards.

E. H. Malzahn has assumed his duties as a member of the ration board, taking the place made vacant by the death of Mr. Wilcox.

Village of Wheeling

The ration board for the village of Wheeling has a small population compared with other communities, but the figures are just as interesting.

Mrs. Willis Clark, secretary reports:

Number books issued 1,064
Number declarations 314
Excess cans (stamps removed) 489
Excess cans (stamps not removed) 170
Coffee stamps removed (children under 14) 2,519

Arlington high buying jeeps

Buying jeeps for the Army is the theme of the new War Stamp Drive at the Arlington Heights township high school. The students are participating enthusiastically and sales are climbing.

Robert E. Little, chairman of War Stamp Sales, states that over one-half of the total sum has been subscribed toward the first jeep. A jeep costs $971.00 and as each one of the 579 students buys $1.69 worth of stamps another jeep goes into service.

A stamp sales booth has been put up in the main corridor by the junior class and patriotic music is played at noon and after school while sales are in progress.

If you have a son or daughter in high school, urge them to buy their stamps at school to aid in this effort.

St. Peter's Lutheran church guided by the pastor, Rev. Harry C. Fricke, will observe Lent in special vesper services Wednesday, 8 p. m. The first devotion is Wednesday, March 10.

In a series of seven sermons the "Contrasts in the Passion" will be interpreted. Following are the topics of each service.

March 10: "The Two Processions."

March 17: "The Two Weepings."

March 24: "The Two Thieves."

March 31: "The Two Hates."

April 7: "The Two Nights."

April 14: "The Two Rendings."

April 23: "The Two Loves."

The organist, choirs and soloists will offer Lenten music, which reaches the heart of the worshiper.

Invitations to hear these sermons have been mailed to a large number of members and guests. Everyone, who feels the need of religious guidance, is welcome at the church always.

A full page Lenten message by the church appears in this week's Herald.

Open Red Cross Hq. at Arlington fieldhouse

This week saw the opening of Red Cross headquarters in the Arlington Heights field house, and the establishing of regular surgical dressing units there.

The first surgical dressing unit on Monday met with a splendid response from the women of the village, indicating that the more central location has met with hearty approval.

Mrs. Donald Cox and Mrs. Kenneth Sieburg, co-chairmen of the surgical dressing project are greatly pleased with the splendid response from the women in the village, but feel even yet that those who attend still represent a small percentage of the town, and state that workers are constantly needed for this ever important phase of the war effort.

Convenient

The field house offers a light convenient place for the Red Cross workers, and those in charge extend the greatest appreciation to the Park Board for their generous cooperation in allowing its use for Red Cross work.

The calendar of days for surgical dressing units is again repeated:

Mondays, 10 to 5.
Tuesday, 10 to 5.
Thursday evenings 7 to 9.
Friday, 10 to 5.
Two surgical dressing units are still being conducted in other parts of the village, one in the Lutheran annex, on Wednesdays from 10 until 5 and in the St. James school hall on Wednesdays and Thursdays from 10 until 5.

Police to go after unpaid license fees

Rationing hits gas tax funds

Arlington Heights people are lagging in their payment of license fees. The municipal council decided Monday night to send the police officers out after the money. The lag in fees include car owners, dog owners, and business houses. Only half of the car owners have purchased their 1943 vehicle tags. Less than a quarter of the business houses have paid up. Thirty-six dogs were gathered in by police officers the past month. Few had licenses.

The annual budget of the village anticipates the collection of these fees and it is getting near the end of the fiscal year. There is nearly $5,000 outstanding and the money is needed. Delinquents are asked to pay at once at the village hall and save a personal call on the part of the police.

Chief Skoog reported to the village that parents of the four boys implicated in the robberies last week have made restitution; that a case worker from the juvenile court had visited the families of the boys in question and that a court hearing would be given them Friday.

Pau Taege, new health officer reported 12 cases of German measles, one chicken pox and two cases of mumps during February.

Gas rationing has at last had its effect on the size of the monthly gas tax quotas that are credited to each municipality every month. The January credit is only $339.49, about one third of the usual amount. This means a curb on street improvements the coming year.

Evangelical Lutheran Old Folks home was granted permission to hold a tag day May 10, 1943.

Police department reported collection of three business licenses $15; 79 dog licenses, $158; 136 vehicle tags, $466.50 and one bike license, 30c.

Instruction course for local canteen opens soon

All women of Arlington Heights who are interested in taking the canteen course which will start soon in Arlington Heights under the supervision of the Red Cross, are asked to meet Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock in the home of the canteen chairman, Mrs. Marion Hannigan at 620 South Pine st. in Skarsdale.

Mrs. M. Ferris and Mrs. J. Weaver, formerly of Los Angeles, and now living in Arlington Heights, both saw active canteen duty on the west coast, and will be present at the meeting to tell of their experiences in this work.

The course is concerned with the special problems of mass feeding that arise in case of disaster, and includes a course in first aid, for those who do not have this requirement.

With the building of barracks on the close-by air fields, now actually in progress, Red Cross workers in the village realize that a need may arise for a service center here, and women prepared to do canteen work would find great use for the preparation that this course gives.

The course is scheduled to start on March 9, and those interested are urged to attend the meeting on Friday in the home of Mrs. Hannigan when a definite time of the future meetings will be set. Call Mrs. Hannigan for further details or to register for the course, tel. 1528.

Rest Home notes

Mrs. Paul Hergert visited with Mrs. Pauline Hesse in the home Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Otto Vahrenwald has returned to his home on North State road.

The home welcomes Mr. P. F. Brown of Chicago, who was transferred to the home Sunday from St. Lukes hospital in Chicago. Mr. Brown's son of Northbrook has visited his father and Mr. Brown's daughter, Miss Betty Brown of Flint, Michigan, has been a daily visitor at the home.

Miss Carrie Haggarty's two sisters, the Misses Haggarty, spent Sunday afternoon visiting.

Mrs. Beulah Burkitt and her niece, Miss Betty Bailey, called at the home Sunday afternoon.

While all these callers were at the home the male quartette of the Methodist church, consisting of Messrs. Sydney E. Allen, Charles Heiss, Ira S. Parker and Joseph Zikmund, all of Arlington Heights, sang a number of beautiful selections, which was a great treat to all in the home.

Birthday time is here again for a number in the home. February 22 was the birthday of Mrs. Martha Lesberg, one of the nurses. February 27 was the birthday of both Mrs. Gieseke, the cook, and Mrs. Walter B. Hansen. Mrs. Harry Strigow of S. Dunton avenue, a former patient in the home, also has her birthday on February 27, and she always remembers her friends in the home with some of the lovely dishes she makes. This year she brought a lovely birthday cake, which was pretty and tasted just fine.

On Wednesday of last week Mrs. Fred H. Gieseke of Campbell street, invited a number of her friends to her home. The guests were Mrs. Gaare of Palatine, Mesdames Charles Peters, Henry Gruber, Claude M. Butler, Luella Korfman, Beulah E. Bur-J. Crofoot, Elmer L. Hile, Henry Winkelmann, and Walter B. Hansen and Misses Carrie Haggarty and Myrtle L. Stock, all of Arlington Heights. Mrs. Collignon assisted her mother, Mrs. Gieseke, in seeing that the guests all had a happy time and served lovely refreshments to all. As the day was so close to the birthday of Mrs. Gieseke and Mrs. Hansen, a number of the friends brought some lovely birthday gifts.

Friday evening a number of the relatives and friends of Mrs. Martha Lesberg pleasantly remembered her at her home on Euclid avenue. This was a happy gathering and they all wished Martha many happy returns of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Kraegel of Itasca called on their mother, Mrs. Emma Oldenberg at the home last evening. Mrs. Kraegel always remembers her mother with a box of goodies and a game or two of buncos.

Spring Fever Can be Harmful

by C. W. LUSSMAN of Sieburg Pharmacy

Thermometers don't register spring fever but sometimes paychecks do. The trouble with spring fever is that it's so grand to feel lazy that you don't want to do anything about it. But take stock of yourself and you may find that the lassitude of spring is robbing you of some of your working-hour energy and your playtime enjoyment. Visit a physician's office and ask him to give you an ordinary physical examination to determine what, if any, medication you require to restore you to vibrant health. CEREALS AS MEAT EXTENDERS

Did you know that cereal products may become the backbone of our civilian diet? When I say cereal products I mean all products made from grain. This includes wheat flour and bread. Of the eight basic food groups recommended by the Food and Nutrition Board of the National Research Council, cereals are at present the most plentiful. We'll be eating more and more of them because they'll have to help compensate for foods that are scarce and restricted.

No new food does not get the idea that this means an endless succession of bowls of breakfast food three times a day—with only bread (with perhaps a very little butter on it) and a few fruits and vegetables to relieve the monotony. You can serve your cereals in a wide variety of different and appetizing combinations with other foods.

Helping With The Meat Shortage Right now these cereal foods are helping with the meat shortage by acting as extenders. Ground meat mixed with rolled dried wheat flakes (prepared ready-to-eat breakfast cereal), a little milk and seasonings, and broiled, makes a truly delicious steak. You don't recognize the wheat flakes, but you just know it tastes mighty good. It's the nutty wheat flakes that blend so agreeably with the meat. And you've stretched a pound of meat to make six generous servings. Here is the recipe:

- EMERGENCY STEAK
- 1 lb. fresh hamburger or ground round steak
 - 1/2 cup milk
 - 1 cup wheat flakes (ready-to-eat breakfast cereal)
 - 1 tsp. salt
 - 1/4 tsp. pepper
 - Finely chopped onion (if desired)
- Mix together well. Place on pie pan. Pat into shape of a T-Bone steak, about 1" thick. Broil 8-15 min. with regulator at 500° F. (very hot). After meat is brown on one side, turn. Brown other side, and finish cooking. 6 servings.

Flour And Biscuit Extenders

Enriched white flour and biscuit mixes can be used for meat pies or meat turnovers. Dry or soft bread crumbs can be used for meat loaves, or for croquettes to stretch our meat allotment. Here is a deliciously different meat pie with tender golden brown biscuit rings over the top. Grated carrots and finely chopped parsley add a new touch when they are blended into the biscuit dough for MONDAY MEAT PIE.

- MONDAY MEAT PIE
- 1/2 cup diced celery
 - 1/2 cup diced onion
 - 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
 - 2 cups cut-up left-over roast
 - 1 cup cubed cooked potatoes
 - 1 cup cut-up cooked carrots (sliced lengthwise)
 - 1 cup cooked peas (No. 1 can), if desired
 - 2 cups well seasoned gravy (any left-over gravy plus thin white sauce)
 - Biscuit dough (use half of recipe on biscuit mix package)
 - 1/4 cup grated raw carrot and 1 tsp. finely minced parsley added to the biscuit dough
- Brown celery, onion, and green pepper in hot fat; add meat, potatoes, carrots and peas (if desired). Add gravy, and season to taste. Place in 8" baking dish, and bake 15 minutes in moderately hot oven (375° F.).

Meanwhile, pat or roll out biscuit dough to fit baking dish. Slit dough in 2 or 3 places, and place on top of hot cooked filling at the end of the 15 minutes. Turn heat to hot oven (450° F.) and continue baking about 15 minutes. 6 servings.

Your Income Tax

EXPENSES OF FARMERS

A farmer who operates a farm for profit is entitled to deduct from gross income as necessary expenses all amounts expended (other than those constituting capital expenditures) in the carrying on of the business of farming. The cost of feeding and raising livestock maybe treated as an expense deduction insofar as such costs represent actual outlay, but not including the value of farm produce grown upon the farm or the labor of the taxpayer. Also deductible is the cost of seed, minor repairs to farm buildings (other than the dwelling of the farmer), and small tools used up in the course of a short period. The cost of fuel and oil used for farm work, as well as repairs and maintenance of farm machinery, is deductible as a business expense; but the cost of farm machinery, equipment, and farm buildings represents a capital investment and is not an allowable deduction. The cost, however, may be recovered by depreciation allowances. In the case of a farmer, the farm dwelling is not depreciable, except such part of it as may be used directly in farming operations. The cost of gasoline, repairs and upkeep of an automobile if used wholly in connection with the taxpayer's farm operations, as well as depreciation thereon, may be deducted, but if an automobile is used partly for business and partly for pleasure or convenience, the portion attributable to business will be deductible as a necessary business expense. The cost of hired laborers and hired machines on a farm and the part of the board which is purchased for hired laborers are deductible. The value of products furnished by the farm and used in the board of hired laborers is not

Infant Welfare clinic March 9

The Arlington Heights Health committee invites the mothers of all children less than two years of age to attend the regular monthly Infant Welfare Conference to be conducted at the Arlington Heights health center in the village hall next Tuesday from 1:30 to 3 p. m.

If you baby has had a lingering cold, if he doesn't seem to take foods necessary for good health, if he doesn't get the proper amount of sleep, the baby conferences will help solve these child problems.

Mrs. Lund, the community nurse particularly urges mothers who have no family physician, to bring their children for a routine checkup.

Dr. Leckband will be in charge of next week's clinic.

Christened

Sunday afternoon, February 28 the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Meier, Oakton st., Des Plaines, was christened at their home by the Rev. Allen H. Pedder, pastor of the Immanuel Lutheran church. He was named Neal Arvid.

Sponsors were Mrs. William Meier and Mr. Elroy Meier, Mt. Prospect, Mrs. Fred Heppner, Des Plaines and Mr. Arthur Pries, Chicago. Those present besides the sponsors were Mr. Wm. Meier, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Meier, Mr. Fred Heppner, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clausen, daughters Myra Lee and Janice Joyce, Mrs. Arthur Pries and son, Mrs. Joseph J. Healy, Mrs. Sophia Pries. MARRIED 42 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Peters, 1130 N. Dunton ave., were married 42 years Feb. 26—also date of Mr. Peters birthday. Sunday the 28th, their family celebrated with gifts and all that makes a party. Cards from many friends, gifts from Mesdames Edna Engelking, Hy. Gruber and Clare Decker reminders of friendship.

Their sons who are first class privates in service, Edward and Jackie, sent gifts to the remind them they were thinking of them. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Miller and children of Park Ridge, Mr. and Mrs. Richardson and family of Des Plaines, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Peters of Jefferson Park, made up the family group. The surprise for hosts and guests was a telephone call from Jackie in Washington. Sound of his voice brought happiness to the company. All will long cherish the memories of Mr. and Mrs. Peters' anniversary—in 1943.

Many honor Mrs. Gustave Bloese on birthday

Family friends and neighbors helped Mrs. G. F. Bloese, formerly of Arlington Heights, celebrate her 60th birthday Saturday night. Her son, Private "Goodie," surprised her when he called from Camp Claiborne, La., to wish her a very "Happy Birthday." The evening passed very quickly with all the guests joining in buncos and card playing, refreshments were served at midnight.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. C. Seegers and daughters of Marengo, Mr. and Mrs. W. Friberg of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. W. Reimer of Elgin, Mr. and Mrs. W. Wiechmann of Park Ridge, Mr. and Mrs. John Mohr of Chicago, Mrs. C. Peterson and son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. Reese, Mr. and Mrs. R. Leisch, Mr. and Mrs. C. Habe and son, Charles, Jr., Miss M. Redpath, Mr. Earl Scott, all of Woodstock, also Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Buckholz and family of Elgin.

The Seegers family, the Fribergs and Mr. Charles Hake Jr., enjoyed turkey dinner with the Bloeses on Sunday. Later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Goebbert and family of Des Plaines joined the merry making.

Emil Erber has 80th birthday

Children, grandchildren and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Erber to help Mr. Erber celebrate his 80th birthday Sunday, February 28. After a delightful supper served by the girls, the evening was enjoyed playing cards.

To make the occasion even greater, Mr. Erber's son, Henry, from Glenburn, N. Dakota, was here for a short visit. Other out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Krause and Mrs. Hilda Gash from Gladstone Park, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Rateike from Mt. Prospect. After a midnight snack the guests all left wishing Mr. Erber many more happy birthdays and the best of health which he seems to enjoy so much.

Attention... CAR OWNERS YOU MUST HAVE YOUR TIRES INSPECTED

TO PROTECT YOUR RIGHT TO DRIVE

DON'T WAIT
Avoid the Rush
SEE US AT ONCE

Are YOU risking your right to drive—to get tires, even gasoline? Many local car owners are—by delaying having their tires inspected. YOU MUST have your tires inspected no later than January 31st. Many will put it off until the last minute—there will be a big rush at the deadline.

To keep your car operating, your government is trying to make it possible for you to get tires, whether you have an A, B or C book. But you must take proper care of your tires, and inspection helps you to do this by IMMEDIATELY showing whether your tires need repairing, or whether you need recapping or NEW TIRES.

It's your duty to get inspection early and to get the repairs, recaps or new tires you need, while recapping and service facilities are not crowded to the limit. So, don't put off inspection another day. Protect your right to drive. Get our inspection NOW!

Mid week supper meetings during Lent at ME church

To feature author, editor, chaplain and preacher

Following the custom of other years, the Arlington Heights Methodist church will again observe Lent through a series of popular mid-week pot-luck supper meetings.

Outstanding preachers of Chicago have been secured as speakers.

The tug and tie of fellowship in breaking bread together is strong. The need to feel the nearness of fellow men in a time when so much is being done to tear them apart was never more important.

The Lenten meeting will be held in the church gymnasium, where each family will share its meal with another. The pot-luck supper will begin at 6:45. The evening of spiritual enrichment and fellowship will begin at 8 o'clock, with the singing of well known and familiar songs.

The theme for the meetings is "Which Way Ahead?" and each speaker will give his version and interpretation of it.

The speakers include Dr. Fowler, a district superintendent and former pastor of one of the largest churches in the denomination, Dr. Carl, an author, editor and author on Lincoln and Markham, Dr. Grimes a noted youth leader who has molded young lives for nearly two decades, The Rev. Donald Crocker, a brilliant young theologian, The Rev. T. Potter, a chaplain in the Navy, and the Rev. Herbert George, director of a Community church, one of Chicago's problem areas.

Dates on which the speakers appear are as follows:
March 10: Dr. George Fowler.
March 17: Dr. George Truman Carl.
March 24: Dr. Paul Grimes.
March 31: The Rev. Truman Potter.

April 7: The Rev. Donald Crocker.
April 14: The Rev. Herbert George.

OBITUARIES

Peter Weidner, veteran teacher, mail carrier, passes away

Mr. Peter Weidner, who spent the greater part of his life in the vicinity of Buffalo Grove and who served St. Mary's congregation as school teacher and organist thirty years, passed away at the home of his son, Albinus Weidner, 120 S. State rd., Arlington Heights, Friday, February 26.

Funeral services were held Monday morning from Lauterburg & Oehler chapel, Arlington Heights, to St. James church, Arlington Heights, interment in St. Mary's cemetery, Buffalo Grove.

Mr. Weidner was born in the village of Buffalo Grove, Ill., and was a member of the St. Mary's church, Buffalo Grove, Ill.

He was a mail carrier for the U. S. Treasury in the procurement division and last August was transferred to the war department and was with the Austin Co. at the Douglas Plant as a purchasing agent. He had completed this work two weeks prior to his death.

During the first world war he was a flying instructor and had received orders to go across, when the armistice was signed.

Mr. Clark married Miss Myrtle Hines with a military ceremony at El Paso, Texas, February 3, 1923. Since coming to this area they had erected a home of their own near Arlington Heights, where they were looking forward to many happy years together.

He leaves his wife, one son, four brothers, August and Engelbert, Arlington Heights, Henry, Chicago, William, Omaha, Neb.; three sisters, Mrs. Katherine Stohr, Arlington Heights, Mrs. Clara Schmitt and Miss Elizabeth, Chicago.

Mr. Weidner during his life time served his community in many ways. His last active service was 19 years as rural mail carrier out of Arlington Heights post office - a job from which he retired in 1931 when he had passed his 70th birthday. Services to his church were varied. Following his graduation from St. Francis Teachers College, Milwaukee, he taught for several years in Indiana, then returned to his home community and had charge of St. Mary's school.

His teaching service was interrupted for a period of five years, 1895-1900 when he was engaged in the operation of a feed business in Arlington Heights with Nick Volz. He returned to St. Mary's school where he taught until he entered the government postal service in 1912 and moved to Arlington Heights.

During eight years of his service as rural carrier he found time to teach a Sunday afternoon class in Christian Doctrine at St. James church, also serving as organist.

Deceased was born May 12, 1860 in Buffalo Grove. He married Miss Francis Zimmer October 16, 1888 and they celebrated their golden wedding four years ago.

Mr. Weidner had been under the care of a physician a year and was confined to his bed seven weeks.

The funeral was held at Lauterburg & Oehler chapel Tuesday afternoon. Cremation followed. Deceased is survived by his wife and a brother, Earl E. Clark, of Chicago.

Lewis Clark was born in Syracuse, N. Y. May 3, 1890. He graduated from Mississippi A & M as a geologist and spent many years in the oil production industry. Until he came to Chicago at the time of the World's Fair he resided in California. At the fair in '33 and he was captain of the famous Skyride. He was employed by the U. S. Treasury in the procurement division and last August was transferred to the war department and was with the Austin Co. at the Douglas Plant as a purchasing agent. He had completed this work two weeks prior to his death.

During the first world war he was a flying instructor and had received orders to go across, when the armistice was signed.

Mr. Clark married Miss Myrtle Hines with a military ceremony at El Paso, Texas, February 3, 1923. Since coming to this area they had erected a home of their own near Arlington Heights, where they were looking forward to many happy years together.

He leaves his wife, one son, four brothers, August and Engelbert, Arlington Heights, Henry, Chicago, William, Omaha, Neb.; three sisters, Mrs. Katherine Stohr, Arlington Heights, Mrs. Clara Schmitt and Miss Elizabeth, Chicago.

WAR BOND QUIZ

Q. May I sell a Bond or give it away?

A. No. War Savings Bonds are not transferable.

Q. May a beneficiary redeem a Bond during the lifetime of the registered owner?

A. No. The Bond will be paid to the beneficiary by the Treasury only when the beneficiary has furnished the Treasury with proof of the owner's death.

Q. How much does a War Bond cost?

A. The price of War Bonds is 75 percent of their maturity value. For a $25 denomination Bond, for example, you pay $18.75 and at maturity in 10 years you receive $25. This is the smallest Bond you can buy.

Q. How do I receive my Bond?

A. If you buy over the counter for cash, it will be delivered at that time. If ordered by mail, it will be mailed to your address or to anyone whom you designate.

Remember—the longer you keep War Bonds, the more valuable they become.

This Week in Wheeling

Dogs run wild

At the meeting of the Village Board on Monday evening a complaint was presented about the number of dogs running at large in the village. The board decided to notify dog owners instructing them to keep their animals from becoming a public nuisance.

Further steps will be taken if the public does not respond. Several children were bitten recently, which makes such action necessary.

Mildred Naierhaser was surprised to see Wilbert Carneke of Park Ridge last week. Wilbert has been stationed in the signal corps school at Ashland, Kentucky and surprised his mother in Park Ridge with this visit. Wilbert also saw his brother, Raymond, now at Great Lakes. He returned Monday to Kentucky.

Capital of Tunisia

Tunis, capital of Tunisia, is also the chief commercial port of the French protectorate which is becoming a leading North African battlefield. The city, less than ten miles south of the ancient harbor of Carthage, and about 40 miles from northern Tunisia's important naval base of Bizerte, is located at the end of a shallow lake through which has been cut a deep, narrow, six-mile-long ship channel connecting the city with the sea.

Wheeling Red Cross drive opens next week

How much would you give if your boy or girl were lying wounded and needed help, or if he or she was held a prisoner of war, if they were off in a distant camp and needed comfort and advice?

Already many boys of Wheeling are scattered around the globe, and may need just such help. You cannot be there to help them, though you would give your last dollar if you could.

But your representative can be there, the American Red Cross. You can be there perhaps to save their life if you will subscribe to the Red Cross Roll Call and War Fund. Plan to give generously.

The local drive will open March 15. A committee of your neighbors will help you do your part. Be prepared to help them carry Wheeling "over the top."

Miss Dorothy Schultz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schultz and Corporal Victor Saunders Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. V. Saunders were married in Chicago, on Wednesday, Feb. 24th. Corporal Saunders was at home on a 7 day furlough and left for Biggs Field, Texas, on Friday. Mrs. Saunders will continue in her work at Benjamin Electric and live at home until she may find it possible to join her husband.

Mrs. Harold Bingham is spending several days at East Lansing, Michigan, where she is getting acquainted with her new grandson Peter Morgan Bingham.

Read leading essays at PTA

Seventy-two persons were present at the meeting of the P. T. A. Monday evening. The meeting climaxed the recent essay contest held among pupils of the upper grades. Fifth grade pupils wrote about a patriotic theme inspired by February Birthdays, and older pupils discussed "My part in the World of 1955."

Pupils whose essays were chosen to be read at the P.T.A., and the order in which they were judged at the meeting were:

Fifth grade—Janet Utpadel, Joanne Hoffmann, Billie Saunders, Dolores Gieseke.

Sixth grade—Lucille Evanger, Carol Bellmore, Valarie Landon, William Wiest.

Seventh grade—Anabelle Lee, John Krieter, Alice Newman, Dorothy McCrindle.

Eighth grade—Estelle Newman, Jeanette Beck, Ruth Van Kirk and Viola Krieter. Ribbons were presented as awards, blue for first place, red for second, white for third and yellow for fourth.

The annual Masquerade Dance held on Saturday evening drew a good crowd of merry-makers. The marked difference from previous years was the scarcity of costumes. Apparently folks were not in the mood, or lacked the time to assemble outfits. The chenille bed-spread was won by a Chicagoan who purchased his ticket from Edward Wesolek, Sr. The lamp and table went to Eugene Lesch. The door prize was won by Mrs. Slottag.

The Ladies Pinochle club met with Mrs. Albert Schultz last week. Lucky players for the evening were Mrs. Paul Dueball and Mrs. George Evert.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Utpadel entertained their card club last week. First prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Utpadel and seconds went to Mrs. Fred Utpadel and H. Glen Gemmill.

Theaters Had Only Matinees

In the public theaters in the Eliza bethan period the plays began in the early afternoon, usually between two and three o'clock, and lasted for about two hours.

Honor Rev. Toepel for 40 years service in pulpit

Forty years in the ministry and as ordained pastor of one church—that is the record of Reverend Julius Toepel, pastor of St. Matthews Evangelical Lutheran church located on Milwaukee ave. in East Maine. To commemorate this worthy occasion his congregation planned a surprise celebration in his honor on Sunday evening, February 28, starting with a special divine service.

The church was packed with members of St. Matthews and friends from neighboring congregations as Reverend Toepel was escorted to a seat of honor before the altar by congregation chairman, Mr. Fred Finner. Three large baskets of white carnations and red roses added their charm to the festive occasion. The service was in charge of Reverend Otto B. Heidtke of Morton Grove, lifelong friend and colleague of Reverend Toepel. Reverend Carl Buenger of Kenosha, Wisconsin, first pastor of St. Matthews church, made the German sermon on a text based on Luke 12:42. Reverend H. J. Wackerfuss spoke in English on Heb. 13:17 and two very excellent sermons were delivered on the blessings of a faithful pastor upon whose shoulders rests the responsibility of being leader of his people as well as teacher and preacher. A beautiful song was sung by the all-girl choir under direction of Teacher Geo. Sanders.

After the service the celebration was continued in a lighter vein in the school auditorium. Rev. Heidtke served as a very capable master of ceremonies as he called on the church officers and representatives of the various congregation organizations. Visiting pastors who attended were also given an opportunity to add their words of congratulations to their honored co-worker. Reverend Heidtke also introduced three charter members of the congregation, Otto Haase, William Geweke and August Geweke each of whom graciously responded. Reverend Toepel was presented with gifts from the Ladies Aid and the congregation and a large box marked "Dad" from his children. Congratulatory letters were read from numerous friends unable to be present and the happy affair was brought to a conclusion with a delicious lunch served by the ladies.

Style show headlines 'Bundles' unit program

In the spring woman's fancy, and man's, too, turns to fashions judging by the number of invitation tickets that have been sold for the Bundles for America cocktail party and showing of wartime styles to be held in the 28 Shop of Marshall Field and Co. on Thursday, March 11, from five-thirty until eight o'clock. And that was before it was announced that captivating Hildegard, chanteuse now appearing nightly at a loop hotel, is to be the guest of honor. A smart spring hat will be auctioned.

The blue of the Bundles for America uniform will be definitely noticeable in the audience, since the women who have earned the right to wear this costume of service are proud to do so.

Toys Donated To AWVS Nursery

A box of brand new toys was delivered to the salvage department of Bundles for America in Chicago after a plea had gone out that the AWVS day nursery was in need of toys. Mrs. Russell Ford was the first in Arlington Heights to donate a doll buggy to the nursery. If those who have doll buggies to give away will call 590 arrangements will be made to pick them up.

Local Fashion Show Notes

Mrs. Arthur G. Eppig, 306 Three States blvd., was the winner of the dress, hat and bag offered as the grand prize at the Bundles for America dessert bridge-fashion show last week. The costume fits her perfectly and the red and white print is extremely becoming to this attractive young matron.

The grand finale of the affair last week added a bit of a military atmosphere. To the tune of "Bundles for America," Mrs. Chas. Smith, chairman of the Inverness unit took her place at the right of the stage. She was in full uniform. Mrs. Thomas Coleman, co-chairman of the local unit took hers at the left. She was in full dress uniform. Then Mrs. George Hartford, commentator, introduced the following women who wore uniforms or regulation work smocks: Mrs. Chas. Foreman, sec. of the Blue Jacket division; Mrs. Walter Woolmer, treasurer; Mrs. Joseph Brady, secretary of the army division; Mrs. Harry VanDeusen, membership chairman; Mrs. Kenneth Heimlich, who worked long hours to help put over the Christmas stocking drive both here in the village and at Chicago headquarters.

ME women to have mission play

Mrs. Herman Meyer, chairman of the Mission Study group, will be in charge of the next program of the Woman's Society of the Arlington Heights Methodist church which will meet Tuesday evening in the church parlor.

The program will be in the form of a mission demonstration, entitled "Lighting the Cross," and these taking part are Mesdames Ketterman, Hanson, Vondracek, Crofoot, Burkitt, McElhose, Peterson and Miss Harriet Roney.

Mrs. Robert Dibble is program chairman for the society.

Scarsdale unit announce Red Cross March dates

The Red Cross Production Units in Scarsdale announce their March calendar of meetings as follows: Monday sewing groups meet every other Monday in the different homes. Mrs. H. Freitag is chairman of this unit.

The Tuesday group with Mrs. Alva Meyer chairman, will meet every other Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Meyer, at 617 Burton Place.

The Thursday group with Mrs. Willis Hubbard chairman, will meet during the month of March in the home of Mrs. R. Wilson, at 520 Banbury rd.

The Thursday evening group will meet each week in the home of its chairman, Mrs. R. Ryan, at 610 Fairview.

Anyone living in the vicinity wishing to do Red Cross sewing should contact the chairman of some group.

Arlington home bureau to meet twice Wednesday

The Arlington Heights Chapter of the Home Bureau will hold two meetings on Wednesday of next week, when at 9:30 a. m. they will gather at the home of Mrs. Chas. Stadelman at 503 North Belmont ave., to hold a sewing machine clinic, and will meet again in the evening at the home of Mrs. Steve Csanadi, 230 S. Vail ave.

The sewing machine clinic has proven definitely popular in all home bureau groups, when the members take their sewing machines to the meeting for general overhaul and cleaning, under the able direction of Mrs. Cornelius, Home Bureau Advisor.

Mrs. Cornelius will present the program for the evening meeting also on "Personal Design Problems." She also on the same day, will speak before the Consumer Information group at the field house on "Laundering Problems." This meeting will be held in the afternoon.

Girl Scouts investiture this Friday

Parents and friends of Arlington Heights Girl Scouts are asked to keep in mind the investiture service of the scouts on Friday evening of this week in the field house, when the girls of the local scout movement will become invested in the National organization of Girl Scouts.

The service will be conducted by Mrs. Evelyn Corr, scout worker of Barrington, and will start at 7:30 o'clock.

Recovering

Miss Lillian Russell, a former teacher in the Chicago schools, and sister of Miss Irene Russell, has been seriously ill, due to a heart ailment, but is making a good recovery in her home on South Vail ave. She is being cared for by Mrs. Kehe.

Robin arrives, so dose the snow

The old nursery rhyme which goes something like this "The North wind doth blow and we shall have snow, and what shall poor robin do then?" has the editor pretty worried this week, for to her desk came on Monday the first report of a robin in these parts, and then descended this March wave of sub zero weather.

Mrs. John Hedberg of 314 Park st., Arlington Heights saw our fine feathered friend early on Monday morning, in her yard, preening his bright red breast with never a worry on his feathered brow.

It is hoped that there is in the neighborhood, something which compares with the rest of that rhyme, which says "he will fly to the barn to keep himself warm and hide his head under his wing, poor thing."

The song of the meadowlark has also been heard in the prairie, and in spite of this hard March weather, makes one hope that "If winter comes, can spring be far behind."

To continue sewing clinic during March

The sewing clinic sponsored by the Consumer Information in Arlington Heights and headed by Mrs. B. H. Jarvis and Mrs. Guy Baxter in cooperation with a corps of expert stylists on women's and children's clothing has met with such success during the month of February that it has been extended for the month of March, and will continue until March 26.

Those who have attended the clinic which meets on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday morning each week in the sewing rooms of the north side public school, have been most enthusiastic and grateful for the excellent help which they have received in making over old garments and in creating new articles of clothing.

Any one interested in receiving help of this kind is invited to attend any of the stated mornings, and help will be given them on their sewing problems. The clinic is open to any one in the vicinity, and opens at 9 a. m.

St. James women hear expert on victory gardens

The St. James Woman's Guild members turned out in a good attendance to hear Mr. Shapley, state superintendent of gardens, talk on Victory gardening at their meeting Tuesday evening last week.

Mrs. Bittner was hostess chairman for the evening, and served refreshments during the social hour.

Two new members joined the society, Mrs. Ora DeGay and Mrs. Peter Fredericks.

Members are asked to keep in mind, the regular communion date for the Guild members, which is on Sunday morning, March 7, at the seven o'clock mass.

Woman's club pres. to entertain junior women

Mrs. F. E. Briggs, president of the Arlington Heights Woman's Club, will entertain the Junior Woman's club and their escorts Sunday at 7 o'clock, giving them "an evening in Honolulu." Raw silks and curios will be exhibited and late kodachrome pictures of the islands will be shown.

Assisting Mrs. Briggs will be several board members.

Theta Chi meets

Theta Chi Sorority of Arlington Heights met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Marvin Prellberg. The annual foreign dinner and program for the year, scheduled to be of Chinese origin, bowed before the meat shortage, and was replaced by a social evening at bridge.

Dress form demonstration to be repeated

The dress forms which have been created as an outgrowth of the first demonstration at the Consumer Information sewing clinic a short time ago have proved to be the envy of so many women about Arlington Heights that a second demonstration has been arranged for.

This second demonstration on how to make a dress form or "Susy Q" will be held Thursday, March 25, in the north side school starting at 9 a. m. and any one in town interested in learning this art is welcome to attend. Those who attend will have an opportunity to then join a small group of five or six women, who will convene at several different times to create one for each person.

Mrs. Edward Fritz, an ardent member of the Home Bureau, who has assisted in making twenty-five forms, and is quite an expert will be on hand to conduct the demonstration.

If you are not now enrolled in a class for making a "Susy Q" and want one, this is a golden opportunity. Don't miss it.

American Legion auxiliary notes

The American Legion Auxiliary held its March business meeting on Tuesday evening. Mrs. Violet Rector, community service chairman, was in charge of the program.

Judge Behrens and Mrs. Clara Lund were the guest speakers. Judge Behrens said that he did not come to make a speech, but to defend his statement printed in the Arlington Heights Herald of February that "the community itself has part of the responsibility for the morals of its younger citizens."

His topic was the recent juvenile crime wave and his contention that the thieves peddlers of juveniles should be reported to the police promptly, instead of allowing the youngsters to blossom into full bloom bandits.

Fifteen members were present. A contribution of $5.00 was voted for the Arlington Heights Public Health Committee, to use in its dental clinic work.

After adjournment the hostesses, Mrs. Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Geisen, served refreshments.

PEO elects new officers Monday

E. R. chapter of P. E. O. Sisterhood met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. H. E. Collard and held their annual business meeting. Those who will serve the chapter for the ensuing year are: Mrs. Harold Wensley, president; Miss Edith Lindsey, vice president; Mrs. Roy Lawbaugh, recording secretary; Mrs. H. E. Collard, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John Kuntler, treasurer; Mrs. I. D. Allison, chaplain, and Mrs. Fred Utterback, guard.

A social hour and refreshments followed the business meeting.

The month of March will see the close of the Victory Book Drive, for the benefit of the boys in the service, and the moment has come for the good folk of Arlington Heights to comb their libraries for GOOD books to give to this worthy cause.

Books are recreation to the boys on duty in Africa, Guadalcanal, in cold Iceland, Alaska, and other out of the way points of duty, where there is so little to do in idle moments. The books are also greatly in demand right in the army camps in America, and let's send them along with the local paper which they all seem to so greatly enjoy — as a link with home. A good book brings them to the way of normal living, so out of line with their present circumstances.

The few books which have already reached the outposts of this total war, have been read over and over again because there is nothing better at hand, and because the supply of reading matter is so small. If each household in Arlington Heights gave one good book, the campaign in the village would go over the top, and help some lonely sailor or soldier to bridge the lonely gap between home and duty.

Don't Delay

Don't delay going through your books NOW, and pick out the BEST of them for our fighting men.

They are not fussy about your choice, and their tastes range from books of adventure, humor, detective stories, fiction, biography, technical books, poetry, western stories, and the classics. The books must be in good condition, however, and for mature minds.

If you were stuck in a fox hole in New Guinea Island, or Africa, and had a few hours leave, and asked to get away from it all, but could still hear the shells bursting in the distance and the sound of infantry fire, what next to a letter from home would help more than a good book?

YOU IN YOUR EASY CHAIRS WITH A BEST SELLER IN YOUR HAND, what are YOU going to do about it?

Take your books to the local library as soon as possible.

Martha Crane to address garden club

Martha Crane, food program editor for radio station WLS, will address the Arlington Heights Garden club on March 10.

Mrs. Crane has long been recognized as an expert in all problems of domestic economy, and recently with the aid of her husband, remodeled their home and engineered the architecture of their garden.

Mrs. Crane will talk on her experiences pertaining to the food and home program, her work as food program editor for WLS and will have much to offer her audience, from her rich background in this field.

Election of officers will precede the program for the evening. Hostesses for the evening will be Mesdames Haycock, Biederman and McCaulliffe.

Local Home bureau members attend Chicago meeting

Mesdames Lattot, Myer, Zickmund, Loughlin, Stadelman, Emmerick, Franke, Volz, Day and Monroe represented Arlington Heights at the annual meeting of the Home Bureau, which was held all day Wednesday at Carson Pirie Scott and Co.

The annual business meeting was held in the morning, a style show was enjoyed during the luncheon period, and the address of the afternoon, "Present Opportunities and Responsibilities of Home Makers" was given by Mrs. Kathryn VanAken Burns, state leader of extension work from the University of Illinois.

Ruth Heffren says 'I do' to Andrew Horcher Sat.

Miss Ruth Heffren, daughter of Mrs. Mary Heffren of Arlington Heights became the bride of Mr. Andrew Horcher, son of Mr. Geo. Obenaus of the village, at 3 o'clock on Saturday in the St. Epiphany church of Chicago.

Father Cunningham performed the nuptial rites, and the bride was given in marriage by her brother, William Heffren.

Miss Heffren wore for her wedding, a street dress of aqua blue crepe, complete with luggage tan accessories. She wore a gardenia corsage.

Miss Rosemary O'Brien of Chicago served as maid of honor and wore a navy blue crepe street dress with navy accessories. Norman Horcher of Chicago, served as best man.

A soloist sang Ava Maria as a musical background for the nuptial rites.

The wedding party enjoyed dinner following the ceremony at the Town Hall Restaurant.

The couple are now at home at 623 N. State rd. The groom is a carpenter in this area, and the bride, prior to her marriage, was employed at Benjamin Electric.

The Call of the Cross

TOWERING
WRECKS

"Everything that I have worked for, everything that I have hoped for, everything that I have believed during my public life has been crashed into ruins this morning," so declared Neville Chamberlain before the House of Commons on that fatal September day in 1939 when England declared war.

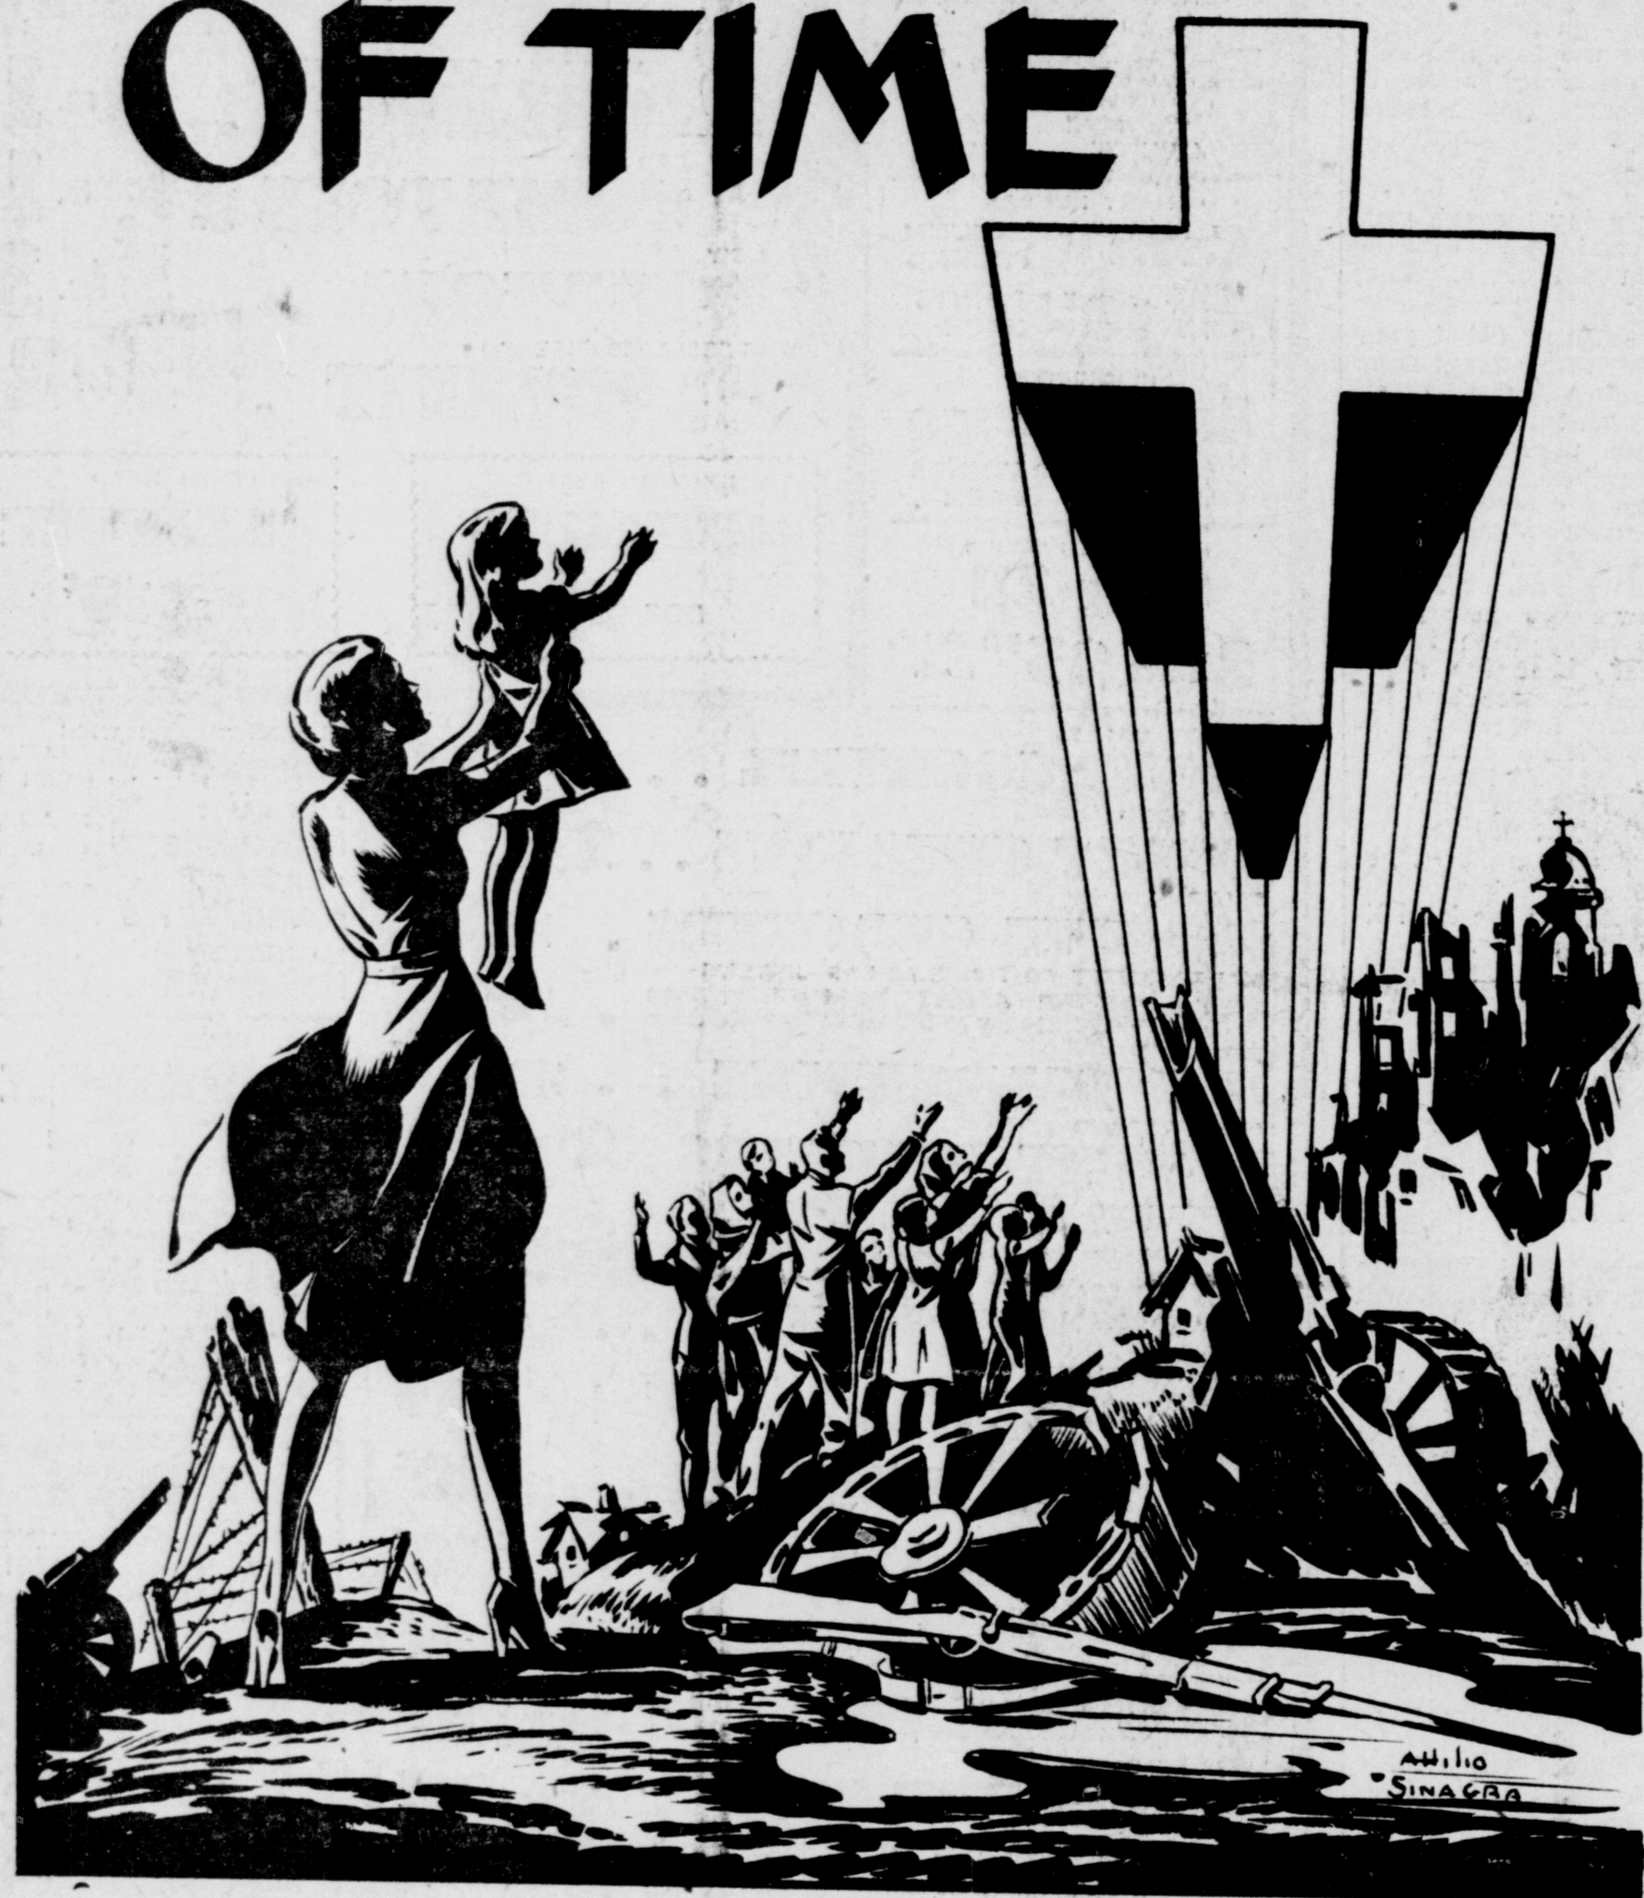

That song of sorrows still goes on in 1943, sung by millions today. And as the scope of war increases, taking its toll in soldiers — their buddies blasted away before their eyes; on sailors — their ships torpedoed on the high seas; on flyers — their planes blown from beneath them; on mothers and fathers — their sons taken from them; on women and children — barely existing on starvation rations; on civilians — weighted down with burdens and anxieties; . . . where in all this wreck of time, this hatred and sin, (and sin causes that wreck) — where can we find rest for the soul, peace for the mind, happiness for the heart?

Look up above the clouds and see —

....A STAR

Towering o'er the wrecks of time stands the Cross. No human being can give you peace. But Jesus can. When He, God's Son, went to the cross of Calvary, He took with Him my sins, your sins, the whole world's sins, suffered their punishment, paid their death penalty. By believing this Gospel grace we can find pardon and peace, escape hell's terrors, defeat the grave, triumph over despair. Through this faith we know a special place is prepared for us in the eternal mansions. We have peace in our souls.

That inner peace then finds outward expression. With the cross as our tower we find contentment in a discontented world, comfort in a cruel day, soul happiness even amid bodily pain, a serene faith though surrounded by chaos — peace, blessed peace, amid the agony of a world aflame with war.

Speakers available from Red Cross

Volunteer speakers, experienced in public speaking and versed in the activities of the Red Cross, contribute hundreds of hours of their time each month to giving clubs, OGD groups and business organizations up to the minute information on the American Red Cross and the tremendous growth of its program during wartime.

Mrs. Adam P. Sledz of 420 Park ave., Arlington Heights, is one of the 35 speakers in the bureau.

Speakers include both men and women, many of whom are qualified to make speeches in foreign languages. Women members of the bureau always wear the official slate-blue Red Cross uniform when participating on a program.

The speakers service is available to any group of 50 or more meeting within the limits of the Chicago Red Cross Chapter, including Cook, DuPage and the southern half of Lake county. Groups may choose one particular branch of Red Cross activity for discussion by the speaker, or they may ask for a general talk.

Requests for speakers should be made at Red Cross headquarters, 529 South Wabash ave., telephone Wabash 7850, ten days in advance of the engagement.

DES PLAINE

Chris Beisted, late of Des Plaines, who died in Dayton, O., January 12, intestate, left an $8,000 estate according to a report in Probate court where his estate has been opened. He left two heirs, a son, Howard A. Beisted of Des Plaines, and a daughter, Lucile Doerr, of Taylorville, Ill., who will divide the estate. The son was appointed to administer the estate.

Must not raise rent by sub-lease in homes, flats

Tenants who sub-lease their dwellings, equipped with their own furniture, at a higher rental than that charged for the house or apartment unfurnished are violating the OPA rent regulation unless an order permitting the increase has been granted by rent control authorities, Earl Dean Howard, Federal rent director for Cook, Kane, Lake, and Du Page counties, announced today.

Howard declared that many tenants, because they allow the sub-tenant to use their furniture and furnishings, are sub-leasing houses and apartments for more than they pay the property-owners. This, he pointed out, is a violation of the OPA regulation which fixes the maximum rent at the level of March 1, 1942, and requires an order from the rent director to increase it.

"Tenants are frequently unaware," Howard said "that when they sublease a dwelling they become landlords within the meaning of the regulation and then have the same responsibility as any other landlord."

"The regulation requires that to obtain a rental higher than that of March 1, 1942, a landlord must petition the rent director and receive an order permitting the increase."

"When a tenant sub-leases and rents his furniture along with the house or apartment, there is no doubt that he has increased the service to the sub-tenant and is probably entitled to a higher rent than he is paying. But he cannot increase the rent himself. He must petition our office and let us fix the rent upon the basis of the increase in rental value by virtue of the increase in service."

"If the regulations did not require this procedure, it would be entirely possible, by a complicated series of sub-leases, to entirely defeat the anti-inflationary purposes of rent control."

Howard advised tenants who plan to sub-lease their furnished living-quarters to petition his office well in advance of the date they expect the sub-tenant to occupy the premises so that an order increasing the rental, where justified under the regulation, may be entered. Otherwise, he pointed out, the sub-tenant properly may refuse to pay a rental higher than that charged on March 1, 1942.

Howard also cautioned tenants that when a sub-lease is made, the tenant, now in the role of landlord, is required to register the dwelling with his office.

Boscaw on the prowl again; two watches gone

Doffing his big overshoes and stepping out in pointed toed shoes about size 10 or 10½ Boscaw the Backdoor Bandit came back to Park Ridge and paid an unwelcome visit to the W. H. White home, Park Ridge, last week Saturday between 9:45 a. m. and 10:25 p. m.

Entrance was made by breaking a rear basement window and opening the inside basement door with a skeleton key. Pulling all window shades on first floor and in bedrooms Boscaw apparently had plenty of leisure for a thorough search of the house.

His loot, valued at approximately $200 or more, included two valuable gold watches, one a man's pocket watch of unusual design valued as a keepsake and with a gold chain and pearl handled knife attached, the other a white gold Elgin wrist watch. A man's yellow gold ring with onyx setting, Marshall Field Charge Plate, brown bakelite Emerson radio, brown walrus hide zipper bag, a brown man's suit size 44-46 and a man's blue coat suit and pants also disappeared.

Mrs. Charles Volker attended the funeral of her sister-in-law in Chicago last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Trost and two children from Chicago visited her mother, Mrs. Nicklaus at St. James Parish house Sunday.

Born, a son, to Mr. and Mrs. Miller, Thursday, February 23, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peter.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Pate and little baby have been guests in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Pate for some time.

Mrs. R. Cook from Chicago came out Saturday to spend a fortnight with her cousin, Mrs. F. A. Whiting.

The invitations are out for a birthday party Wednesday in honor of the fifth anniversary of Joyce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Wayman.

Mrs. Albert Meyer has been entertaining her sister and two children from Wisconsin for some time.

Mrs. Henry Klehm was royally entertained in honor of her birthday Saturday afternoon, March 3, by a number of her lady friends.

Those present were: Mesdames Weisgerber, Pfingsten, Martens, Volz, Levine, Kopplin and Mrs. Skoog.

Bensenville

Mrs. Harvey Craigmile who was recently operated on is reported improving very fast.

Mrs. Ed. Bartholmey, who is still confined to her home by illness is reported on the gain and expects to be able to be out in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Elfring are the proud parents of a baby girl born February 22.

Harold Shaw was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. Newcomer on Sunday.

Mrs. Marion Rands of Chicago called on Bensenville friends Saturday afternoon.

Fri., Mar. 2, 1928

Mt. Prospect

Mr. George Meier was taken to the Evanston hospital Friday, February 24. On Saturday Mr. Meier was operated on and we are glad to say that at this date he is well on the road to recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. William Busse and their daughter, Mrs. Martha Froemling, have gone for a vacation to Hot Springs, Arkansas.

Both Mr. Busse and Mrs. Froemling have not been very well lately, and we trust that this trip will greatly benefit them.

John P. Moehling is remodeling the interior of his home into a modern one with the latest equipment being installed.

Mrs. Edward Busse is on the sick list and we hope will be on the road to complete recovery before long.

Itasca

Our enterprising merchant, Mr. Emil Mensching, has added a military department to his dry goods store.

Mrs. Baruth attended a birthday buncu party at the home of Mrs. Kahle in Bensenville Wednesday.

Mrs. Albert Meyer has been entertaining her sister and two children from Wisconsin for some time.

Finish framework of new plant, Douglas moves in

The last of the 150 foot trusses, largest in the world, was swung into place last Monday at the Douglas plant, Higgins and Mannheim roads, months ahead of schedule.

The plant has made ingenious use of wood in the conservation of steel and other critical materials for more urgent war purposes. The use of 27 million board feet of lumber in the construction will save about 30,000 tons of steel, copper and aluminum for building ships, planes and tanks.

Most striking use of wood is in the 150 foot trusses, combined with laminated wood columns and joined with metal connectors in recently developed ways that equalize the stress and permit wider spans than were considered possible a few years ago.

Overhead conveyors will be suspended later as a part of the straight line production method of turning out the large transport and cargo ships. The structural frame of the main building alone saved 20,000 tons of steel. Asbestos siding instead of masonry resulted in substantial savings in man power and expense.

Other savings resulted from the use of pressed wood reflectors in the plant's fluorescent lighting system, a synthetic white enamel surface avoiding the use of porcelain enameled steel with no loss in lighting efficiency.

Uses Fiber, Plastic Pipes

Fiber downspouts, asbestos and plastic pipe, wooden manhole covers, and nonmetallic ventilating ducts and heater and radiator housings also answered the government's request to save critical metals.

The Austin company has a current construction pay roll of $1,100, including the structural steel workers who had to become accustomed to handling wood. The peak pay roll was $500.

A substantial portion of the plant area — farm land a few months ago — has already been turned over to Douglas, which recently announced that production of C-54 transports was under way at the plant.

Because of the highly inflammable nature of this huge structure, a fire department comprising 27 men is on duty at all times under eight-hour shifts. Mechanized fire equipment is of the best and includes pumping equipment larger in size than that of any local fire department.

Although construction of the main assembly-line building is now nearly completed, Douglas officials were non-committal on the date when the first transport would take off for its trial test, but indicated that it would be several months yet before such results would be possible.

Lay Off Thousands

With the construction work nearly completed the Austin company, contractors for the job, have laid off or transferred 6,000 employees, leaving but 2,500 still on the job.

As these workers leave Douglas employees will move in, eventually 15,000 of them reporting.

Civil service examinations

The United States Civil Service Commission announces employment opportunities in the position of Welder (electric), $1.00 to $1.22 an hour, in the Ordnance service, War Department, Rock Island Arsenal, Rock Island, Ill.

Senior Fireman, high pressure (mechanical stoker), for filling the position of senior fireman, $1.680 a year.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces employment opportunities in the position of crane operator (electric bridge) $1.83 to $1.01 an hour.

Red Cross opens war drive this month

Blood plasma division leads unit's wartime activities

"When the Red Cross comes around for funds, folks, dig down, and dig deep," writes a local serviceman now stationed in New Guinea. "Besides taking care of casualties, saving lives with their blood plasma, they supply bunks and all the comforts of home, even here in the far off Pacific. They also do the 'impossible' things."

The foregoing message from Lt. Alec Tudyman, stationed in far-off New Guinea, expresses the value of the American Red Cross. The Red Cross has long been known in peace time and now, in wartime, rises many times more important in its activities.

The canteens supply our boys with ice cold cokes, American candy bars, magazines and numerous things. They offer legal counsel and advice whenever the occasion warrants. But foremost of all, they have organized their blood plasma service saving thousands of lives of men on the battlefields. This month the Red Cross launches its annual drive for war time funds. Last year's quota has been doubled, a direct result of the African invasion and other military actions throughout the world.

Local drives begin around the fifteenth of this month. Chairmen are mapping their campaigns, expecting to conduct whirlwind campaigns and top the quota. It is necessary that everyone give at least one day's pay, or double what they did last year in order to meet this quota. Americans have not failed

Aluminum

Nearly three-quarters of all this nation's world-record output of aluminum is going into military aircraft and all of it into the war effort one way or another. With the recent announcement by Roy A. Hunt, president of Aluminum Co. of America, that Alcoa was turning over to the government, many millions of dollars in what he termed "reasonable" renegotiated contracts for 1942 and was reducing prices on many fabricated products effective March 1, the economic effort of new machinery and new techniques developed by aluminum for the war becomes clearer.

In the last few months America has been reading about and seeing pictures of new rolling mills that turn out aircraft sheets two city blocks long, rolling them fifty times faster than before; new plants in which 50 football games could be played at one time; banks of great forging hammers more powerful than any others in the world — all of which were regarded in terms of more planes, better made and more quickly produced.

Now Hunt's announcement, after renegotiation involving more than 150,000 contracts, reveals an additional result — cheaper planes. And since aluminum is the only customer these days is Uncle Sam, it's the taxpayer who gets the saving.

Corn tires

Post-war motorists may be driving on rubber tires made from corn and wheat, according to reports coming from the nation's research laboratories. Rapid wartime development of the synthetic rubber industry, especially in making butadiene and styrene from grain alcohol in the U. S., will make possible the production of 75 per cent of the rubber supply after the war, according to a report on synthetic rubber progress by Dr. A. J. Liebmann, research director of

He pointed out that 80 per cent of the entire synthetic rubber program now is for the Buna S type, and that it seems probable that most of this vital war material will be derived from alcohol distilled from grain.

Blackout envelopes

Things to Come — Fluorescent treated plastic "envelopes" which emit a glow sufficient to make it possible to read the contents in the dark. A cocktail shaker which doesn't dilute beverage while ice melts, so the last drink is as potent as the first poured. Completely airtight pillowcases using vinylite coating, to overcome troubles of "feather duster" sufferers.

Navy diapers

A spun rayon and cotton cloth developed for diapers is being used by U. S. Navy plants for lens polishing. Several companies are about to market creamed dentrifices, to be sold as "toothpaste in a bottle." Armstrong Cork Company has developed a new coating that forms a ready bond with steel or wood, for weather-proof, non-skid surfacing of warship decks. There are enough United States Steel employees in the armed forces to make nearly four Army divisions — 55,000 men.

Loofahs

Sponges, a critical item for the Navy, were obtained from Japan. They're out. Now we are encouraging the production of vegetable sponges both in the United States and South America. They're called "Loofahs."

Cigarette paper

Paper for the billions of fags smoked each year is made from linen rags and flax tow. Most of it was imported. War finished that. Now, a growing U. S. industry produces cigarette paper from flax straw.

Easter lillies

Easter will soon be here. Blessed day in the calendar of hope. Fragrant lilies enshrine the very beauty of that hope. In other years, florists imported more than 25 million bulbs, forcing that these lovely flowers might be ready for Easter. We have it or not, they came from Japan. Breeders have developed a far better American stock and a new industry is under way in the southeastern States. There may, however, be a shortage.

Ration castor oil?

You're not the only ones who need castor oil. It's used for airplane engines and drying oils also. There's a shortage. This year we shall plant 200,000 acres of castor beans for those purposes. That may mean less castor oil for you. Ain't cha glad?

Furniture

New patterns for wood furniture have been prohibited as of March 15, 1943, and an approximate two-thirds cut in the number of existing patterns as of July 1, has been ordered.

This action limits manufacturers of wood furniture to no more than 35 per cent of the patterns offered during September, 1941, or to 24 patterns — whichever is greater.

Vegetables

Civilian supplies of canned vegetables from next summer's estimated pack will be increased by approximately 10 million cases under new orders which provide changes in the amounts of certain processed foods that must be reserved for government requirements from the 1943 pack. Most of the increase will be in canned tomatoes and snap beans, with no significant change in fruits and juices.

New sugar stamp

Sugar Ration Stamp No. 12, which becomes valid March 16, is worth five pounds, but it must last through the end of May, a period of eleven weeks.

Wheat quotas

Wheat marketing quotas have been suspended by Agriculture Secretary, Claude Wickard, in a move to insure adequate food and feed supplies. This action lifts marketing quotas and releases at once for food or market any wheat which has been stored. Wheat farmers who meet 90 per cent of their farm war crop goals in 1943 will be eligible for AAA wheat payments and wheat loans even though they exceed their wheat allotments.

More rubber

Owners of tires smaller than 7.50x20 will soon be able to get their casings recapped with reclaimed rubber "camelback" without applying to their rationing boards for certificates. This does not relax the need for continued observance of rubber conservation measures. The change was made to reduce the demand for replacement tires by encouraging recapping, which takes less than half as much reclaimed rubber as a new war tire.

Farmers get gas

Farmers may obtain gasoline for their tractors, engines and other non-highway equipment for a period of six months instead of three months under a change in rationing regulations announced by the OPA.

The change is being made because of the variability of farming operations. It also will save the farmers time.

Combination sales

Sales of used wheel tractors, combines, corn pickers, corn binders or power-operated hay balers in combination with other used farm equipment or commodities have been prohibited by the OPA. Numerous complaints have been received that the combination sales device is being employed to force farmers to pay exorbitant prices for such items. The scheme used is to sell an uncontrolled machine of little value jointly with a controlled item at a price which greatly exceeds the ceiling for the machine which is under price control.

READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKown

THE receptionist of a New York publishing house recently put through a call to the editor. "A man is here to see you," she said. "He says he's the world's greatest author." The publisher didn't hesitate. "Show Private Saroyan in," he said.

William Saroyan, who is still in his early thirties, is already a legendary figure in the literary world. After his first short story was accepted by Story a few years ago, he sent a manuscript a day to that magazine until the pile of them was prodigious in size.

He saw his first Broadway play in 1935 and, turning to his companion, commented, "Why, for the love of Mike, I could write a better play than that in twenty-four hours!" And exactly within the specified time, he produced "My Heart's in the Highlands," which turned out to be a Broadway hit. His next play, "The Time of Your Life," won both the Pulitzer Prize and the New York Drama Critics' Award, the first play ever to receive both honors. Saroyan created a coast-to-coast uproar when he calmly refused to accept the Pulitzer Prize.

In 1940, a collection of his stories, "My Name Is Aram," was made a Book-of-the-Month Club choice, and now "The Human Comedy," his first novel, is a Club book-of-the-month for March. "The Human Comedy" was written from the movie script which Saroyan had already sold to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

"The Human Comedy" is about a Postal Telegraph boy named Homer Macaulay, who lives in a small town in California. (Saroyan was a messenger boy in Fresno, California, himself, not so many years ago.) Homer is bound and determined to be the best messenger boy there ever was. He loves everything about his job, except delivering those messages which begin: "The War Department regrets to inform you . . ."

The author has a romantic and unbounded love for the common people. He has an equal dislike for phonies and hypocrites, whom he satirizes mercilessly—such as Mr. Byfield, the athletic coach of Homer's high school, who doesn't want Homer to win the Two-Twenty Low Hurdle Race because Homer is a poor boy, and therefore can't amount to much. Hubert Ackley, the Third, on the other hand, comes of a wealthy family, is a perfect little gentleman, and, automatically, in Mr. Byfield's opinion, should be the winner of the race.

High point in humor in the book is the time that Ulysses, Homer's four-year-old brother, gets caught in the bear trap in Mr. Covington's Sporting Goods Store. It's a remarkably fine trap, guaranteed to "hold the animal aloft without damage to fur or body." The only trouble is that the inventor has neglected to figure a way of getting the animal—in this case, Ulysses—out of the trap after he is in it. Everybody in town comes in to give advice; Ulysses is the sensation of the day; but it all ends pleasantly enough when Big Chris, the strongest man in town and, also, a noble human being, not only breaks the trap open, but pays Mr. Covington the twenty-dollar list price for the damage he has done.

If you want to have the time of your life, read Saroyan's "The Human Comedy."

LIFE WITH MOTHER

Dear Mary:

You asked me a letter back how we all were. . . I didn't answer then because we were all so sick and miserable, I couldn't bear to tell you about it. . . you and I are so far apart that you couldn't have done anything for us, anymore than I can help you when you're in trouble. . . we had what the papers have been calling Winter Flu. . . it's a terrible thing. . . but we're all over it now and feeling fine. . . I hate to talk about sickness or troubles, at any time, but especially now, when almost everyone you know has plenty of them. . . so we'll skip all that and here's my report as of now. . .

Estelle was no sooner out of bed than she headed down to visit Jeanne and Mate. . . (Netty's in Detroit visiting cousin Bob and Myrtle. . . they've just had their second baby, a girl. . .) so aside from Netty, the girls, as we call them, had a get-together. . . I read a book review some months ago that has given me an idea. . . it was My Yankee Mother by some man whose name I've forgotten. . . according to this review, the woman led a very quiet, normal life. . . nothing much out of the ordinary seemed to have happened to her. . . yet her story interested some publisher enough to print it. . . if I could write, wouldn't the lives of mother and her three sisters be a tale? . . . but would anyone believe it, that's the question.

I say would anyone believe it, because I always will remember something Professor Snyder said when I was a freshman at Northwestern University. . . Charlotte Dubois, an upper classman and a Delta Gamma, got the idea of starting a new literary society. . . the old, established literary societies were based on scholastic standing plus a certain evidence of some literary ability. . . Charlotte called hers "The Author's Club" and invited about ten of us to join. . . all of us unknown and untired. . . we could flunk chemistry or be a dud in trigonometry. . . all she asked was that we be interested in writing. . . she asked Professor Snyder to be our counselor and he consented. . . we met once a week in his room off his office in old Lunt Library. . . it was great fun, partly because it was all kept so informal and partly because of Professor Snyder's interesting and charming personality. . . at each meeting one of us read something we had written then the others criticised it. . . the first time it was my turn, I was so stage struck that I couldn't eat a bite of breakfast or lunch. . . somehow I mumbled through a short story I had written and then sat stiff and tense in agony of embarrassment for their criticisms. . . these were, as usual, mild and helpful but when it came to Professor Snyder's turn, he said, "That story is taken from real life and every word of it is true, isn't it?" . . . I said, "Yes," and began to feel a bit proud that our beloved adviser should recognize this. . . the wind was taken out of my sails, though, when he smiled and added, "One thing you'll have to remember if you write fiction or drama, never make it as real as life, the public won't believe it. . . the old adage, Truth is stranger than fiction, holds in this case." . . . I wonder if "The Author's Club" is still in existence? . . . and what the original members are doing. . . Charlotte is the only one I remember and hear from. . . she's been writing for some years for The Christian Science Monitor. . . that seems to me to indicate that she's pretty good, because without knowing anything about the religious side of it, I've always thought that paper an outstanding newspaper. . .

Dave has joined the Coast Guard Reserve "Temporary." As he says, "If I can't serve my country in our Navy, I'll help to aid navigation. . . and that's what the Coast Guard does." . . that guy just had to DO something active. . . I teased him when I heard of his latest venture by saying, "I think all you want is to wear a uniform. . . If you'll just be patient, I'll save up my house money and buy you one. . . how about a boy scout outfit?" . . . I forgot how big Dave's ears are until a few days later I overheard mother ask him, "Where's your father?" . . . Dave said, "Oh, he's down in the dining room playing with his boy scout papers." . . poor Dave. . . he said, when he told me about applying to the Coast Guard. . . "What am I going to say to Dave and Louis when they ask me some day what I did in the war?" . . . I said, "Tell them you not only supported a wife but dared to have four children, while giving your share in bonds and taxes. . . if either one of them is man enough to equal that, I'll be satisfied with them."

He goes down to the city hall once a week to study. . . at the end of ten weeks they'll be given examinations and weeded out. . . so keep your fingers crossed for him. . . one interesting thing about this, is that the Lieut. Commander who interviewed Dave is none other than Paul Date whom I knew at college and the husband of Helen Aiken Date, a Delta Gamma and old friend of mine. . . they live out in Highland Park. . . do you know them? . . . I called her and we had quite a talk about our respective husbands. . . she thinks it's a fine thing for them to do and is sure Dave will like it. . .

Davy is bored with school! . . . did you ever? . . . says they do the same thing every day. . . what he really objects to is getting dressed every morning and having to wash his face and hands so thoroughly. . . on week-ends he refuses to wear his Eton suit. . . wants to go around in overalls even on Sunday afternoon. . . what shall I do? . . .

Louis we call The Echo because he follows Dave around wherever he goes, trying to do whatever Dave does and repeating everything Dave says. . .

Charlotte is entering her most trying period. . . she wants to walk and can't quite do it yet. . . she also wants to touch everything. . . Dave adores her but to Louis she's a pain. . . he's constantly reminding her that she's "just a girl." . . he gets especially annoyed when Dave plays with her. . . So there's my full report. . . do let me have one like it from you. . . I'm simply dying to see your new place but I suppose I'll have to wait until after Little Estelle or J. D. arrives before I can do it. . . we all send our love. . .

As always,

Eleanor.

It Happened Here

We have a boy-of-all-work, boastful as that may sound; he is far too small and too young to be such a factotum, but there you are. "Eight years old," he told us "eight and a half," he added staunchly; "there's some folks think I'm eleven." By no possibility could he be mistaken for eleven except in his exceedingly manful air of being able to tackle anything. It was after one of our earliest winter storms and we were pretty well snowed in when he first appeared bearing a snow shovel many sizes too large for him. "Did we want our walks shoveled?" We certainly did, but how about this heavy snow. Pooh! Nothing to him. Here evidently was a boy of parts, a boy who had shoveled drifts much superior to ours and who were we to quibble about an eleven-year-old feeling in an eight-year-old suit. His job manfully finished, he pocketed his silver and promised, "I'll keep you in mind the next snow." And he did, hardly waiting for the last flake to fall before he appeared. The only time he missed was when he was sick; he came over later to explain his failure and eyeing the neatly cleaned walks, demanded, "Who did it?" as one who saw his job about to be wrested from him. When he cordially asked us to keep his pay for him until the next snow, we knew for certain that he had adopted us, so we ventured to ask what he meant to do with his earnings. "Oh, give 'em to my ma," he answered laconically, "she buys the groceries." Since the mild weather set in he called once to ask, "Say, can I rake for you this summer, leaves or something?" His ma has got herself a good raker, but he still looks to us like a choring cherub. . . Said one high-powered business man to another, "Do you subscribe to the Sun?" "No," said the other, slightly surprised, "they don't feature Orphan Annie."

S'Amuser.

U.S. will not starve; plenty of food, fewer delicacies

Black market means plenty of spoiled meat

"During the last week, due to food rationing, too many are getting panicky about the food situation, and the general impression is we are on the brink of starvation. Such is far from the facts, and folks generally in cities and towns should compose their minds," states Farm Adviser, C. A. Hughes.

"Certain foods will be limited, and housewives by studying supplies on the grocers' shelves, will find that they will continue to have plenty, although many delicacies will disappear. The point is not to grieve about not having pineapple, etc. Forget about these scarce articles. There is an abundance of cereals on hand now, and plenty of meat. The black market is going to be the cause of more hoarded meat eventually spoiling, than good citizens should allow or permit. Allow meat to pass through regular channels and all will have enough meat. Farmers have fed lots filled with livestock that will come to market. They are going to grow all crops they can, and except for a severe drought which is improbable, the farm production will be equal to 1942 or above.

"Many townspeople are considering plowing lawns, improvised lots, etc., for gardens. Don't do it. Unless you have a patch of ground in good condition forget the Victory Garden idea. Unless you have time to work a garden don't put one out. Your time had better be put in at another essential operation. Our vegetable growers are expecting to put out as much acreage as they can and they doubtless will do as well as in 1942 even with greater hand-

Farm bureau endorses farm account book

"To assist farmers in one of their most perplexing problems of paying the new taxes, we have devised a special account book for farmers to use on the cash basis. We have inspected all kinds and sorts of farm account books, but all are very unsatisfactory and none will give the answers wanted as to the income tax a farmer must pay on the cash basis or the Victory Tax he must pay at the end of the year from net income. The University has a very good book to be used on the inventory plan, but since almost 99% of the payments are on the cash basis it is of very little use to farmers. The book the Bureau will be using is in a large part the work of Mr. I. D. Allison who has worked on farm income tax returns the past two years. The book is so devised that it closes out in a duplicate of form 1040-F which is the income tax form schedule. Also, the book has been especially designed to take care of the problems of the dairy and vegetable farmer of Cook county," states Farm Adviser C. A. Hughes.

"The first year's cost of the book will be about fifty cents or possibly some more. Since the same forms may be used thereafter they should be cheaper after this first year.

"It is anticipated that they will be off the press by March 20, and Farm Adviser Hughes will hold a series of township meetings to deliver and explain the keeping of the records.

"While there is a possibility of a change in the revenue paying basis there is no question that whatever change is made for the farmer it will depend on fairly accurate records. Furthermore, with the establishment of field offices it appears there is a possibility of farm incomes being called into question more and more from this time on."

caps. Our advice is don't be panicky, and the rationing program when better organized, will insure all their fair share of food. Even though we have to change food habits some, don't lose any sleep, the chances are you'll be better fed at that."

Farm help now moving north

The University of Illinois is picking up a number of men from farms in the southern part of Illinois, where there is a surplus of labor and men who are used to doing farm work and transferring them to northern Illinois where we have a shortage of farm labor. In the meantime, these men are taken to the University and given a period of a week or two with the University dairy herd and instructed on the care of crops and machinery. They handle machinery, tearing it down and getting instructions on the successful operations of farm machines.

These men are available to the farmers of northern Illinois on application. If you are in need of such a man, turn your request in to the Farm Bureau, stating whether you want a single or married man, the quarters you have, how much you are willing to pay, or so forth, or write directly to P. E. Johnston, Farm Management Service, College of Agriculture, Urbana, Illinois.

Set records in butterfat

Two registered Holstein-Friesian cows in the dairy herd of Alfred E. Meyer, Roselle, have recently completed official production records of more than 450 pounds of butterfat. The Holstein-Friesian Association of America announces.

The higher producer of the two is Ostland Princess Ormsby Maidie with a record of 512 pounds of butterfat and 15,148 pounds of milk. This is nearly three times the production of the average dairy cow in this nation. The record was made in 365 days on twice a day milking and at the age of 5 years 11 months.

The other high producer was Bess Armstrong Creator Kolenhurst with 471 pounds of butterfat and 11,963 pounds of milk, made in 326 days at the age of 5 years.

Testing was supervised by the University of Illinois in cooperation with The Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

High school help may solve, shortage of farm workers

Roselle farmer doubles average in butter, milk

Alfred E. Meyer of Roselle owns 13 registered Holstein-Friesian cows which recently completed a year of testing with an average production of 362.3 pounds of butterfat and 10,397 pounds of milk for each cow. Milking was done twice a day.

This butterfat average is two times as much as that of the country's average dairy cow, using U. S. Dept. of Agriculture statistics for comparison.

The highest producer in the herd was Ostland Princess Ormsby Maidie, a 6-year-old, which produced 512.8 pounds of butterfat from 15,305 pounds of milk.

This is the fifth consecutive year Mr. Meyer's herd has been on official test in the Herd Improvement Registry department of The Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Testing was supervised by the University of Illinois, in cooperation with The Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

OPA to give extra rations in threshing season

"One of the problems that was raised at our vegetable growers' meeting and that farmers have had in mind, is the possibility of getting extra rations for their hands during threshing or field work on vegetable farms this summer," states Farm Adviser, C. A. Hughes. "This problem was taken up by us through the OPA office and we were assured that before the season started that local ration boards would receive instructions and that the farmer could apply to his local ration board for the rations that he required to take care of his help and that permits would be issued.

"We were requested to take the problem to Washington, which has been done at this time and we shall also follow the problem up shortly before field work begins, when extra help is needed.

"Some growers insist upon having these assurances directly from officials and the orders issued to the ration boards at this time. This is impossible just now, but we have been very positively assured that we could depend upon these arrangements being made in plenty of time."

Must Expect Work

"At the same time an effort is going to be made through the schools to acquaint these boys with what to expect on a farm and that they too should be tolerant towards the life that they will expect to live while on the farm and that these are times when all are expected to do more than their particular share of work.

"Frequently farmers wait until a day before they need help and expect to have someone available immediately to come out to their farms. This is not possible and we suggest that farmers go to their nearest high school some time before school is out or before they need this help and make their wants known to the principal.

"A list of all cooperating high schools in this territory will be put in the hands of each farmer producing within a month from this time. Further announcements will be made about this arrangement in the not too distant future."

Tett leads Bensenville team scoring with 168 tallies

MAC SAYS:

by GERALD A. McELROY

The regular basketball schedules are completed but there is a lot of sports activity to attract the interest of fans through the month of March. In a nearby column we have listed some of the coming attractions. This week the regional tournaments at Waukegan and Elgin are the center of attraction. The semi-finals tonight (Thursday) ought to be very good at both centers.

The way we dope it Niles and Libertyville will meet in the upper bracket and New Trier and Maine Twp. in the lower bracket at Waukegan. Looks to us like Niles vs. New Trier in the final with New Trier the winner. At Elgin Thursday games should be Hebron beating Dundee and Elgin topping Woodstock. We pick Hebron as the winner of the finals on Friday.

Palatine Alumni in Tournament
Thursday night there is an independent tournament starting at the Elgin YMCA gym which carried through Tuesday. Palatine's alumni team which won a trophy as a semi-finalist in the AAU tourney in Chicago recently should present a strong entry at Elgin.

Sectional at Elgin Next Week.
The best high school basketball in this area will be played in a four team sectional tournament at Elgin next week Thursday and Friday. All four will be regional winners. The winner goes to the state meet the following week at Champaign.

Taylorville Rated Tops This Week
Right now the top teams in the state ratings are Taylorville and Paris. Taylorville beat Paris last week 47-43. Unless these teams are upset, which is unlikely, they will be in opposite brackets of the state tournament according to drawings that have been made by sections. The northern part of the state does not rank as strong as usual in high school basketball but there are plenty of tough teams farther south. Another team to watch in the state is Moline.

Professional Finals At Stadium
In between the sectional and state tournaments there is a big attraction in Chicago in the form of the World's Professional Basketball Championship tournament. This meet is played at the Michigan Armory at 16th and Michigan

Bisons end season with '8 to 4' record

Closing one of their best seasons in years the Bisons had a record of 8 wins and 4 losses of which three of the losses were by four points or less. The only real beating they took was at the hands of Palatine when they lost 35-20.

In the scoring column they tallied 455 points in 12 games for an average of 37.9 per game for one of the best offensive records in the conference to a 32.25 per game for the opposition.

The individual records show Tett with 168 points in the twelve games for a 14 point a game average and Miller had 90 in 11 games for an average of a little better than 8 per game. He garnered 62 of his total in the last six games. Benham and Kernats had 79 and 64 for the season.

Free throws were again a Bison weakness of which they only had a 41 percent.

Bensenville Individual Scoring

Player	fg	ft	tp	pts
Tett, f	72	24-40	22	168
Miller, c	37	16-45	32	90
Benham, f	32	13-27	21	79
Kernats, f	27	10-37	22	64
Bornack, g	13	3-11	25	29
Clark, f	6	2-6	6	14
Smith, c	3	0-1	5	6
Jankers, g	1	2-3	19	4
Gage, f	0	1-3	3	1

The lightweights were topped in scoring by Buman and Schoppe with Standard third. Buman had 122 points and Schoppe 91 in 11 games.

Heavyweight material next year will be excellent for the new coach as Kernats and Benham will be back and along with Buman, Schoppe, Standard, Braun and Schlowman, should produce another good team. The lightweights will also have a good year to look forward to.

Antioch wins Wauconda dist. tournament

Antioch outscored Barrington 28-21 to win the district final at Wauconda last week and gained the right to meet Maine in the Waukegan Regional Wednesday of this week. Antioch turned back Northbrook 27-19, and St. Mary's 38-31 to reach the final round. Seeded in the opposite bracket from Palatine, the favorite, Coach Wolfenbarger's Sequoits played steady ball all through the tournament. Antioch had to play much of the meet without their star Barnstable who was injured in the opening game.

In the final game Barrington held a lead of 12-11 at the half but Antioch pulled away in the third quarter and was never headed. Fields was high scorer of the game with seven points for the champs. Every few years the Wauconda tourney provides an unusual upset. This year the 22-21 defeat of Palatine by Wauconda was the big surprise. Barth of Wauconda sank two free throws in the final 15 seconds to win the game as Patine Breneman of Urbana. In a dual meet Deoduc of Naperville won the shot put for Northwestern against Chicago.

Federal Ransom
The United States has paid a total of about $35,000,000 in ransom for American captives. This ransom or tribute money was paid to Algerine pirates of the Barbary states on the north coast of Africa in the first decade of the American republic's existence. Annual payments ceased only after the United States fought and won the Barbary States war, in which such famous commanders as Commodores Decatur, Rodgers and Barron took part.

Best game from the standpoint of thrills was the first round Elia-Barrington game which went into an overtime. Elia got the lead 39-31 with 10 seconds to play in the last quarter, but Barrington came down the court and scored to tie it up. In the overtime Ladd of Elia got a basket and free throw in the first 10 seconds. Then Barrington battled for two and a half minutes trying to score. Finally Wollar hit but they still trailed by a point and Elia had the ball with 10 seconds to go. An Elia boy traveled and Barrington got a long shot which hit for the winning points.

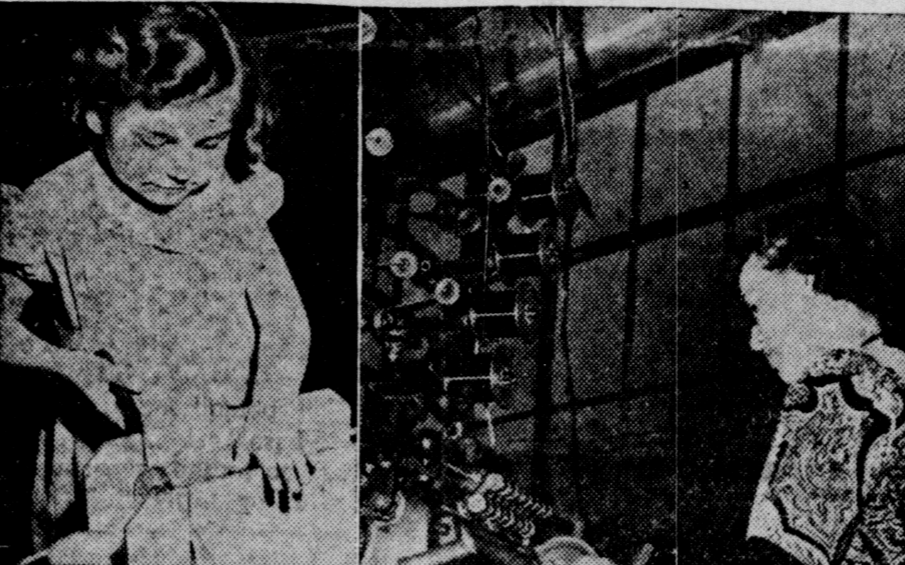

Ladd of Elia who played only one tournament game came close to being leading tourney scorer with 20 points. Wollar and Moore of Barrington were the top point getters with 24 and 23 respectively. Below Ladd were Fields and Wilhelm of Antioch with 19 and 18.

Mushrooms Always a Delicacy
The high esteem in which mushrooms are held as an article of diet dates back to ancient times. Practically always they were considered a delicacy, an extravagance, "a food fit for the gods," and not a dish for the average table.

Peeters, Coleman lead Card scoring with 122, 119 points

Arlington record includes many 'thrillers'

by JOE SMART

With the season practically over we find that the Cards had a bad year in basketball. Out of fourteen games they won but three; two from Elia and one from Northbrook. However, the Cards lost some really close games to the best teams in this area, throughout the season.

Palatine beat the Cards in a double overtime 28-27 in a real thriller. Crystal Lake whipped the Cards twice by margins of just four and five points. In Coach Hayes' final game the Cards tried hard, but lost to Barrington 36-33.

Two talented seniors led the scoring column for the Cards. Peeters rates first with 122 while Coleman is a close second with 119. Both players were good shots from far out. Coleman being shifted back to guard in the latter part of the season. Next comes two Juniors, Larry Hodges, and Bob Kohler. Hodges led the team with a shooting percentage around 35 per cent, and looks like the boy to watch next year. Bob Kohler, a transfer from Chicago, also aided the team with his total of 35 points for the season. All in all however, the Cards expect to have a much better season next year.

The lightweights finished the season with a better record of four wins compared to seven losses. Phil Weber led the scoring with 62 points for the season.

This Tuesday the Cards played Elgin in the regional tournament at Elgin. Elgin is the undisputed champion of the big eight conference. The team's record so far this year is shown below with the leading scorers:

Cards keep up with Elgin for 3 quarters, but lose

Niles, Wildcats win games at Waukegan

Dick Krewer's baskets helped Niles pull away from Waukegan and beat the host school in the first round of the regional tournament Tuesday night. Krewer with 11 and Glatz with 10 were Niles main sharpshooters. It was the first time on record that Waukegan ever lost in the first round of the regional.

Paced by Beckman's 13 points Libertyville won as they pleased against Zion 40-24. The Wildcats coached by Art Bergstrom will meet Les Galitz' Niles Trojans in Thursday's first semi-final game with the outcome very much a toss up.

Elgin spurted to a 7-0 lead in the first few minutes of the game when Menke hit two baskets. Morton one and Nelson added a charity toss. Coleman, however, sank two long shots in succession as the quarter ended. The Cards were then on a short end of a 7-4 score.

The Cards poured in baskets left and right during the second quarter. Kohler hit a long left-hander as the quarter opened only to be matched by Nelson's fast drive-in. Nelson quickly added two baskets and two free throws while Coleman and Peeters each potted long shots. The Cards shortened Elgin's lead on Kohler's tip-in, but Morton proceeded to notch another basket and to retain the form status quo. With one minute to go, Coleman and Kleiner hit shots and Elgin led by the bare margin of 17-16.

Cards Lead
Arlington forged ahead for the first time in the third quarter when Peeters hit two long shots. At this point Elgin began hitting and they steadily pulled away from the Cards. Menke got two baskets, and Morton, Nelson, and Kilburn one before Nelson's free throw and Morton's fourth basket gave Elgin a 30-20 lead starting the final quarter.

Morton notched two more baskets and Plath dropped a charity toss before the Cards finally broke the spell on Coleman's pair of free throws. Menke, Plath and Morton again hit baskets before McWharther added two more free throws. Peeters hit another long shot and Morton a free throw before the game ended. Final tally was 42-26.

Elgin's heralded fast-break was of little use against the Cards for Peeters usually stopped it effectively.

Morton, Nelson, and Menke led Elgin's scoring with 15, 12, and 10 respectively, while Coleman had 10 and Peeters 8 for the Cards.

In the final game of the evening at Elgin, Woodstock beat Grant 44-24 which means that Elgin meets Woodstock Thursday night. It ought to be a good game as both teams have several talented players.
